'Draft Rockefeller' Move Grows

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A nationwide movement to draft New York Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller for the Republican presidential nomination got under way today with half-page ads in metropolitan newspapers.

The movement was announced Wednesday by William M. Brinton, San Francisco attorney and national chairman.

Brinton said he is absolutely confident the movement will give Rockefeller a majority of delegate support at the Republican national convention opening July 25 in Chicago.

"We have enough money to spend on the things we consider useful," said Brinton. "Not a cent of it is Rockefeller money."

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California is expected to endorse Sen. John F. Kennedy for the Democratic presidential nomination by Sunday or earlier and to carry with him a majority of the state's 81-vote delegation, highly placed California Democratic informants said today.

'GOVERNMENT PRESSURE'—TURNER

'Stand Up for Rights Or Resign,' PUC Told

By FRANK RUTTER

The Public Utilities Commission should stand up for its rights to control affairs of the Pacific Northern Railway—or resign, deputy CCF leader Arthur Turner said today.

Mr. Turner was commenting on a statement Wednesday by the PUC outlining its reasons for not having held a public hearing into PNR plans.

The statement—carried fully in Wednesday's Times—was being interpreted unofficially today as first allowing the PUC out of a tough political tangle, but second opening the way for future PUC action.

This action would be after a complaint from an "interested party" against construction starting before the PUC had issued a certificate of convenience.

Two interested parties involved might be the city of Prince Rupert which has already protested the PNR's route, or opposition leader Robert Strachan, currently on holiday in the Caribbean.

"The commission should make a formal and public protest at the action of the government," said Mr. Turner, "and if the government fails to carry out the terms of the act, then the commission should tender its resignation."

The PUC statement said the railway was considered a public utility by its legal advisers.

The railway says, on the other hand, its advisers do not consider it comes under the PUC at this stage.

Premier Bennett was quoted earlier this year as saying that there would be public hearings on the railway. He since has said that construction started under terms of the Railway Act.

Mr. Turner said today a PUC certificate of convenience is required by a railway under the Public Utilities Act.

'Guardian, Watchdog of People'

In the case of the PNR: "Their application must include all relevant information to prove their right to get started."

"It has been reported that because the company has no physical assets as a railway, the PUC has no jurisdiction under the act."

"If the PUC is avoiding its responsibility and the government on its side is flouting the law, then the PUC has lost its function as a guardian and watchdog of the people's welfare."

Mr. Turner added: "There has been government pressure. There is no doubt of that."

The PNR was able to live up to an agreement between Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Co. and the province by starting construction of three miles before June 30 after cabinet approval under the Railway Act.

Conservative leader Deane Finlayson today was in Ottawa. Other officials of the party in B.C. said they needed time to study the PUC statement.

Liberal leader Ray Perrault said he, too, would have to consult railway experts.

"It seems to open the way to those opposed to make a complaint," he said.

Victoria Liberal George Gregory said he approved the PUC statement.

"But he rapped the railway for first seeking a PUC certificate, then backing down—but still going ahead with what it claimed was "construction."

KIDNAPPED

Lottery Winner Loses Son

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI) — The eight-year-old son of a traveling salesman who won a quarter of a million dollars in a lottery was kidnapped on his way to school today.

Two hours later his mother received a telephoned demand for $56,000 ransom.

The disappearance of Frederick Hilton Thorne triggered one of the biggest police hunts in Australia's history. Australians were shocked by what appeared to be the first known instance of the kidnapping of a child for money here.

Frederick's father, Basil Thorne, 37, won the $224,000 first prize in the Sydney Opera House lottery last month.

The boy left home as usual at 8 o'clock this morning, wearing his grey school uniform and carrying his lunch and books under his arm.

He had to walk about 100 yards to meet Mrs. Phyllis Smith, Mrs. Smith, a family friend, accompanied young Thorne to the exclusive Scots College for Boys at Bellevue Hill every day.

When the usually punctual boy failed to show up on time, Mrs. Smith went to the Thorne apartment to inquire. A quick telephone check disclosed he had not gone on to school alone.

At 9 o'clock, Mrs. Thorne alerted police.

An hour later, Mrs. Thorne received a telephone call from a man who, she said, spoke in a guttural voice. She said he demanded 25,000 Australian pounds for the return of her son.

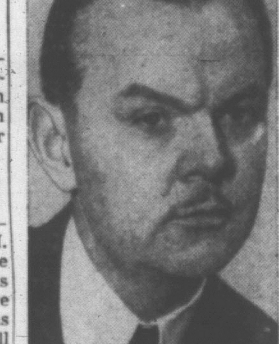

Mrs. Thorne fainted and slumped to the floor.

Every available plainclothesman and patrolman were thrown into an ever-widening search of the city while an alarm was flashed throughout the country.

THREE DIE IN HAIL OF GUNFIRE

REGGIO EMILIA, Italy (Reuters) — At least three persons were killed and many injured in fierce clashes between police and left-wing demonstrators in this northern industrial city today.

At one point, police opened fire with machine-guns on the demonstrators, who returned the fire with pistols and other weapons.

Strikes Ordered In Cities

ROME (AP) — Italy's rioting leftist leadership today threatened to plunge the nation into civil war.

The threat came as police in this ancient capital braced for more leftist-vs.-Fascist trouble after a night of rioting in the streets and fist fights in Parliament.

In the worst week of disorders since early post-war days, nearly 500 demonstrators have been injured in fighting from Genoa to Sicily. More than 200 police have been hurt—135 of them in Rome Wednesday night.

Senator Emilio Lussu, a pro-Communist Socialist leader, told a tumultuous senate session that if Premier Fernando Tambroni's Christian Democratic government does not resign it will turn into "a government of civil war."

A wave of general strikes called by left-wing leaders began to hit every major city.

Rome was under a general strike from 1 p.m. until midnight, called by the Chamber of Labor protesting police action against the rioters.

A half dozen other major cities were similarly affected. More strikes were called in others by the Red-controlled Italian Federation of Labor. The non-Communist unions labelled the strikes political and refused to join them.

Rome looked like an armed camp.

The government's national security forces showed they meant business Wednesday night when 1,000 steel-helmeted riot police charged on foot, on horseback and in jeeps to break up approximately 2,000 Communist demonstrators.

The demonstrators started in a predominantly workers' district. A police ban failed to stop the demonstrators, although the Socialists officially pulled out of the rally.

When Leftists tried to march into the sealed-off square at St. Paul's Gate, police sent streams of water from hoses on riot trucks into the crowds. The demonstrators responded by throwing stones at police.

'PAINTERS' CLEAN UP

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Three gunmen dressed as house painters seized an estimated $60,000 today in a hold-up at the Cherokee State Bank.

They waited calmly for more than an hour for the time lock to go off, turning a gun on each employee who entered the building. Then they looted the vault, teller's boxes and night depository.

U.S. Raps K's 'Slander'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States denounced today what it called Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's "slandering attacks" on the U.S. during his present visit to Austria.

At the same time, the state department protested the Austrian government's "failure... to dissociate itself from these attacks."

The two defendants, Chung Wan-jung and Kwon Hiyong, were the first members of Rhee's police force convicted of indiscriminate shooting against the demonstrators in April.

Both were charged with murder and attempted murder. A government prosecutor at the opening of the trial June 24 had demanded the death penalty for Chung and life imprisonment for Kwon.

Under South Korean law the death sentence is automatically subject to review by a higher court.

The two defendants pleaded not guilty to the charges. But Yoo Chai-hi upheld the prosecution's accusation that the two had fired upon unarmed demonstrators including one young high school student who had already been wounded and was seeking medical treatment.

Three former policemen went on trial on similar charges today.

Many other former police officers, including former national police director Lee Kang-hak, await trial on charges of murder and attempted murder in connection with police shooting on student demonstrators.

Two Korea Policemen Get Death Penalty

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — The Seoul district court today sentenced two former national policemen to death for shooting at student demonstrators during the uprising that overthrew Syngman Rhee's regime.

The two defendants, Chung Wan-jung and Kwon Hiyong, were the first members of Rhee's police force convicted of indiscriminate shooting against the demonstrators in April.

Both were charged with murder and attempted murder. A government prosecutor at the opening of the trial June 24 had demanded the death penalty for Chung and life imprisonment for Kwon.

Americans Prepare to Flee As Cuba Situation Worsens

HAVANA, Cuba (UPI) — A growing number of Americans were reported preparing to pull out of Cuba today in the face of probable seizure of all remaining U.S.-owned property and the possibility of increasing anti-Americanism.

Cuban Premier Fidel Castro underscored the deteriorating situation with another wild-eyed denunciation of the United States for slashing Cuba's sugar quota Wednesday.

There has been a big exodus of American residents from Cuba in the past year, reducing from 6,000 to about 3,000 the number left here. But in the face of worsening Cuban-American relations, the exodus is being stepped up, with private companies getting their employees and families out of the country—even though the U.S. Embassy is not urging Americans to leave.

"We are making no recommendations up to now," an Embassy spokesman said. "It's up to the individual."

In an angry post-midnight two-hour speech before the closing session of the Metal Workers Union Congress, Castro said Wednesday night the United States slashed the Cuban sugar quota in a "frenzy of hate."

This was his first public reaction to President Eisenhower's action in cutting the sugar quota. Castro declared that the "real fight" is just starting with the United States. He charged that Washington was trying to run Cuba and ruin its economy.

But Castro surprised some observers by failing to announce specific reprisals for the sugar cut in his speech.

It was believed now that he may purposely wait until a scheduled television address Friday night.

Or he may even wait to drop the other shoe and decree American sugar mills and perhaps other property nationalized when he appears before a monster protest rally called by the Cuban Workers Federation for Sunday afternoon.

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Beauty is truth, shocked officials of the Miss Universe contest cried today. The Miss USA who will be chosen tonight from among 15 finalists will have to win on her own attributes without "falsies" or "waist-censures."

A watchful official of Catalina Swimsuits, which owns title to the contest, looked closely at the American girls preparing to go on stage Wednesday night and made a startling discovery.

"I made those swimsuits," she said. "I can tell when there's something there that's not supposed to be."

Sure enough, 20 of the U.S. contestants were found to be cheating.

"I let them get away with it for photographs," the Catalina lady said, "but couldn't do it in the contest."

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad—Mighty Sparrow, Trinidad calypso singer, was acquitted Wednesday of a charge of wounding laid last May after he fired a revolver at a group of men during a fracas outside a night club. The singer had turned the shooting incident into a calypso titled "10 to one" in which he described how he was attacked by 10 men outside the club after eating his "last supper" but scattered them when the shots were fired. The might snarrows' real name is Slinger Francisco.

KLAGENFURT, Austria—Nikita Khrushchev got his first close look at Western bikinis Wednesday—and seemed pleased with what he saw.

Scores of scantily-clad girls—most of them blonde—lined the road for about seven miles as he rode along the Austrian Riviera.

Khrushchev and his daughter, Elena, stared at the girls with much interest.

He showed no sign of disapproval.

LONDON—A bright bathrobe stood out against a background of pin-striped trousers and black morning coats Tuesday night in the chambers of the House of Commons.

Wearing it was Conservative Geoffrey Stevens who was changing in a dressing room when the chamber's bells suddenly rang calling members for a vote.

Anxious to record his vote, Stevens grabbed his bathrobe and dashed into the chamber amid gales of laughter.

Fine of $25 For Smashing Two Windows

James Albert Humphries, 1081 Dunford, was sentenced in Saanich police court Tuesday on two charges of wilful damage laid after he took part in smashing two store windows on North Douglas May 28.

Magistrate William Ostler suspended sentence and placed the youth on $500 bond for a year's good behavior for breaking a $135 window at Warren's Barber Shop, 3290 Douglas.

For smashing a window valued at less than $50 at Butler Brothers, 3398 Douglas, Humphries was fined $25.

Court was told compensation was paid in both cases.

"NO EXCUSE"

"There was no excuse whatever for these offences," Humphries was told. Mr. Ostler observed the youth's part in the affair was passive, "but nevertheless you are guilty."

He considered the fact that he has a job and is trying to improve his "not impressive" record.

Youthful Ministers Picked By Lesage for New Cabinet

QUEBEC (CP)—A new era in Quebec's lively political history started Tuesday.

The Liberal party, which committed itself to far-reaching changes in the provincial administration, officially stepped into the Quebec government saddle Tuesday afternoon.

Premier Jean Lesage and the 15 ministers who make up his cabinet were sworn in during a glittering ceremony in the hall of the legislative council, the provincial upper house.

Mr. Lesage led his Liberals to victory in the June 22 provincial election, ending the 16-year administration of the Union Nationale party.

PLANS REFORMS

During a press conference Mr. Lesage said his government plans a new direction in economic planning. Reforms would be made in the departments of finance and social welfare and a master plan for highway construction would be prepared.

The provincial police force would be the object of urgent reforms.

Mr. Lesage, who also holds the finance portfolio, said he would start immediately to prepare for the federal-provincial conference in Ottawa late this month.

He said there will be a cabinet shuffle after the coming legislature session. He noted several ministers now have two portfolios and that for most Liberal members the session will be their first.

He said he would be able to decide later in all fairness how new portfolios should be distributed. He planned three new departments: federal-provincial affairs, cultural affairs, and natural resources.

Mr. Lesage's cabinet is a youthful one—most of its members are under 50.

TOP IDEA MAN

Attorney-General Georges Lapalme, 53, is the man behind most of the new ideas the Liberal group in Quebec stands for today. He is an intellectual with an uncompromising attitude on the question of state aid to individuals or institutions.

Apart from Mr. Lapalme the top men in the administration are to be Rene Hamel, 50, a fiery union lawyer with a nationalistic background; Paul Gerin-Lajoie, 40-year-old authority on constitutional law; Alcide Courcy, 45, an agronomist and a virtuoso of grass-roots campaigning in the opinion of many of his friends; and Rene Levesque, 37, widely known in Quebec as a television commentator.

Together these top six men will hold nine portfolios. Mr. Lesage is finance minister; Mr. Lapalme, attorney-general; Mr. Hamel, labor and municipal affairs minister; Mr. Gerin-Lajoie, youth minister; Mr. Courcy, agriculture and colonization minister; Mr. Levesque, public works and hydraulic resources minister.

HANDLES LARGE BUDGET

Bernard Pinard, 37, is to hold down the roads department portfolio with an annual budget that runs to $115,000,000.

Lionel Bertrand, 54, a well-known Quebec journalist and former colleague of Mr. Lesage in the House of Commons, is the new provincial secretary, a portfolio that includes the department of education.

Gerard Levesque, 34, is game and fisheries minister, and Emilien LaFrance, 48, a real estate agent, the new social welfare minister.

The only English-speaking member of the cabinet is Paul Earl, 66, a businessman and a long-time member of the legislature. Mr. Earl is the new mines minister.

Gerard Cournoyer, 48, and Bona Arseneault, 56, are former Commons members. Mr. Cournoyer is the new transport and communications minister, while Mr. Arseneault is the lands and forests minister.

EDUCATION TRANSFERRED TO 'YOUTH'

QUEBEC (CP)—The department of youth Wednesday became the biggest in the provincial administration.

Premier Jean Lesage announced at a press conference that the department of education has been placed under the authority of the minister of youth. It previously was under the provincial secretary's jurisdiction.

The decision to transfer the education department was taken Wednesday during the first meeting of the new cabinet, sworn in Tuesday.

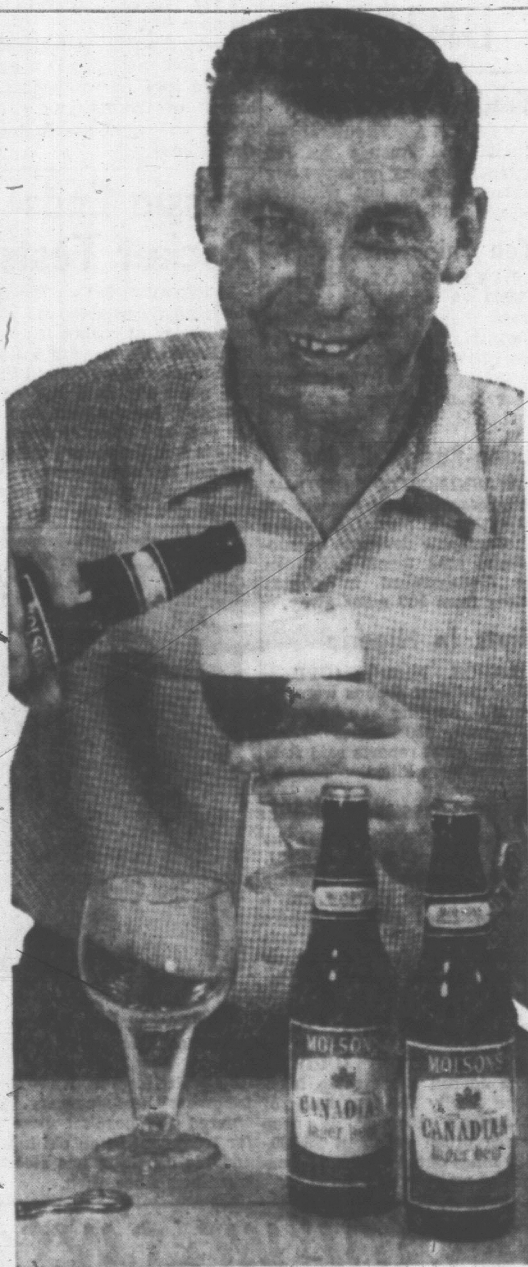

Paul Gerin-Lajoie, a 40-year-old lawyer considered a party bright light, is minister of youth.

The education department budget amounts to some $110,000,000 for the present fiscal year, the youth department budget some $22,000,000. Both together they make up $132,000,000 and the youth department becomes the most important of the administration.

MRA Under Attack As 'Fascist Front'

(From Times News Service)

OTTAWA—The CCF's H. W. Herridge caused a stir in the Commons Wednesday night when he bitterly attacked the Moral Re-Armament movement, implying it is a fascist front.

The MP for Kootenay West said his party takes vigorous exception to the government's policy of allowing income tax exemptions on contributions to the movement, and demanded that it be reviewed.

He said leaders of various CCF and trade union groups across Canada, as well as a good number of other individuals, had expressed to him their "increasing concern" about the exemptions.

Mr. Herridge was immediately taken to task by a series of Liberal and Conservative MPs, who characterized MRA as a worthy movement whose only objective is the spiritual uplift of mankind.

'Enemy of Peace and Tolerance'

Mr. Herridge placed on the record excerpts from critical letters he had received, as well as the text of a resolution passed by the CCF provincial convention in Alberta, denouncing MRA as the enemy of "peace, tolerance and a just social order."

One letter, from the United Auto Workers' political action department in Toronto, cited a story in the New York World Telegram during the 1930s concerning MRA leader Frank Buchman.

The story quoted Mr. Buchman as saying, according to the UAW letter: "I thank heaven for a man like Adolph Hitler. Through such a man God could control a nation overnight and solve every last bewildering problem. Social problems could be solved through a God-controlled Fascist dictatorship."

Wallace Nesbitt, parliamentary secretary to External Affairs Minister Green, said he was astonished at Mr. Herridge's "vitriolic" attack.

Mr. Carter, outlining the purposes of the MRA, said: "It is not a church and does not profess to be a religion, but it does heal mistrust, hates and resentments among the peoples of the world."

Walter Dinsdale, parliamentary secretary for veteran affairs, said his impression from long acquaintance with the MRA was that it strived to encourage and stimulate religious life among the young people of Canada and the Western world.

Revenue Minister Nowlan said Mr. Herridge had introduced an extraneous issue into the estimates debate. He said the decision that MRA should be regarded as a charitable organization for purposes of tax exemptions was taken some years ago by a Liberal government. He saw no reason to reverse the decision.

Mervyn Hardie (L., Mackenzie River) complained that the RCMP in the north are being relegated to "office typewriter boys" by "encroachment" on their duties by northern service officers of the northern affairs department.

"Put the RCMP back to work in the north," the Northwest Territories MP said in arguing that the RCMP had always done an effective job.

'NO ONE LISTENS TO ME'

Rebel Tory to Quit

OTTAWA (CP)—Charles Van Horne, self-styled "dissatisfied Tory" from northern New Brunswick, plans to resign his Commons seat.

Although the resignation date still is in doubt, he said Wednesday he's definitely going to quit. And apparently he will be leaving under his own steam, rather than because of any pressure from the Conservative caucus he has flouted.

The caucus met Wednesday amid reports that the 39-year-old MP for Restigouche-Madawaska might have his status questioned following his open support of the winning Liberal party in last week's New Brunswick election.

That wasn't the sort of conduct that promotes party solidarity. But party sources said Wednesday the question was not raised at the caucus.

VAN HORNE

meeting. Mr. Van Horne wasn't there, anyway—which isn't unusual for him.

"I go once in a while for a half-hour or so," he told reporters later. "But I don't like talking when no one listens to me."

He said former Conservative premier Hugh John Fleming lost the New Brunswick election because he wouldn't listen to advice, and added: "I have told Prime Minister Diefenbaker that if he doesn't listen to advice, he's headed in the same way."

Despite his attacks on the government, he insists he still is a capital-C Conservative. Mr. Van Horne said in a recent interview:

"I would rather be a dissatisfied Tory, which I am, than a member of any other political party in Canada at the moment. We've done a miserable job in many respects, but even at that we've done a better job than the old crowd."

Sleeping Crew Trapped When Big Blimp Crashed

LAKEHURST, N.J. (AP)—A huge $12,000,000 airship used for radar patrol crumpled in air on a search mission Wednesday and crashed "like a sagging banana" into the Atlantic.

One airman was killed and 17 are feared lost in the sunken wreckage.

Three men survived. The navy said it was mystified as to the cause of the disaster.

One of the survivors said a

It will be picked from tenders by seven companies which were opened Wednesday.

The building will consist of 11 classrooms, two faculty rooms, 35 offices and a book store.

helium line may have ruptured causing the blimp to collapse. The Doris May III reached the scene three minutes after the 403-foot blimp fell limply into the water.

Frank Mikuletzky, 19, a mate aboard the fishing vessel, jumped overboard with a life ring and pulled survivors from the floating wreckage.

The blimp had been out on a search patrol for the 40-foot sloop Vat 69.

Ironically the yacht was found safe by a navy submarine at almost the same moment the huge blimp radioed the distress call "May Day, May Day."

Those were the only words heard from the blimp.

One of the survivors, Joseph Culligan, 20, said he had been sleeping and woke to find the gondola filling with water.

Japan Puts Quotas On Hardwood

OTTAWA (CP)—Japan has placed voluntary quotas on 1960 exports of hardwood plywood to Canada. Finance Minister Fleming said today in the Commons.

He said he received a letter Wednesday from the Japanese ambassador to this effect. He did not give the amount of the quotas.

The minister said negotiations are continuing with Japan on prospective Japanese quotas on a number of other commodities where shipments to Canada exceeded "an orderly growth of trade."

Some two months ago, Japan placed voluntary quotas on textile exports to Canada.

Air Force 'Sits' On Earhart Clues

TOKYO (AP)—The United States 5th Air Force today described as "incomplete and inconclusive" information which two air force officers contend proves the Japanese executed Amelia Earhart and her navigator on Saipan in 1937.

A spokesman said the data assembled by Capt. Joseph Gervais and Robert Dinger is being withheld from publication for the moment because it is awaiting evaluation.

Gervais and Dinger told a press conference today that neither had actually visited Saipan but that Gervais had assembled most of their evidence during a recent private trip to Guam, 100 miles from Saipan.

The two officers insisted Gervais' findings prove that the famed aviator and navigator, Fred Noon, were executed as spies and buried on Saipan. More "new evidence" that

Miss Earhart's plane crashed into Saipan Bay was reported, meanwhile, in Santa Ana, Calif. Pilot Paul Mantz, air service operator who outfitted the flyer's plane for the round-the-world flight, "positively" identified a coral-encrusted generator found on the bottom of the bay as identical to one he ordered for the missing aircraft.

The Citizen's Rights

MR. DIEFENBAKER'S BILL OF Rights certainly is not entitled to that name as it is understood in the United States. There the rights of the citizen are guaranteed by the Constitution which cannot be changed without approval by a majority of the states and, in this area, assuredly will not be changed. Here Mr. Diefenbaker has introduced only a statute of the Canadian Parliament which any subsequent Parliament can alter or repeal.

The Canadian Bill of Rights is even weaker than it looks because it covers only the individual liberties under the exclusive jurisdiction of the national Parliament. It does not prevent the provincial legislatures from invading any of those liberties, so long as they are under provincial jurisdiction. And the fact is that acts against the freedom of the citizen have come in recent years mainly from the legislatures, not from Parliament.

The divided nature of the Canadian constitution prevents Mr. Diefenbaker from passing the kind of constitutional amendment which he obviously desires. He cannot frame a Bill of Rights covering both federal and provincial jurisdictions unless he can secure the agreement of the provinces, and he says that no agreement is possible at this time.

How does he know that? No public attempt has been made by the Federal Government to call the provinces together and persuade them to accept a Bill of Rights over-riding federal and provincial law.

It would have been wiser, perhaps, to exhaust this possibility before Parliament was asked to pass a statute which is only a poor second-best, far short of the Prime Minister's original hopes. But Mr. Diefenbaker had promised a Bill of Rights, even if it could not be an effective one, and feels bound to pass it in the hope that the provinces will accept its basic safeguards within provincial jurisdiction at some uncertain date in the future.

Meanwhile he urges the legislatures to pass their own individual Bills of Rights, protecting the citizen from acts of provincial tyranny, but even if they do so these varying provincial statutes will establish, so to speak, varying standards of citizenship from province to province.

Yet with all its weaknesses, the federal Bill of Rights may do some good, not so much as a statute but as a declaration of principles which subsequent Parliaments will hardly dare to infringe and which the legislatures will be unlikely to deny within their own jurisdictions. Mr. Diefenbaker's statute is ineffective, as a statute, over a wide field, but it is at least a pledge of good intent and the citizen can invoke it against tyrannical governments, federal and provincial.

If the present wording of the statute can be strengthened, as Mr. Pearson proposes, so much the better. The Government can wisely listen to the Opposition in a matter of the highest importance which should not be a partisan issue. On the other hand, the Opposition should not forget that during its term of office it refused over and over again to pass any Bill of Rights at all, strong or weak.

'Nye' Bevan

BRITAIN'S TROUBLED AND divided Labor Party shares a common loss in the death of Aneurin Bevan. Often a divisive force himself, a rebel against social conditions he abhorred and frequently against the policies of his own party, he had attained general honor and recognition.

Nye Bevan, rejected in his bid for party leadership, had mellowed in his later years. The concern for his failing health in recent months was voiced alike by those who staunchly supported him and those with whom he had differed sharply.

He leaves the scene at a time when the party stands at the crossroads leading left on the one hand, and toward a moderate liberalism on the other. Perhaps this is the end of the era which brought the poor son of a poor Welsh miner to eminence in British and world affairs.

A man of vigor, of undeviating adherence to ideals he considered right, an orator who could sway crowds, a debater with a razor-sharp tongue, and, despite his leftism, an outspoken foe of Russian communism, he had carved his special niche in the Socialist history of Britain.

Nye Bevan fought giants, Churchill among them. He fathered the British health scheme and remained its champion even when huge costs turned others of its supporters from the plan.

He dreamed his dream of a society which would raise the poor from the corroding want he had known as a boy. He worked to make that dream come true in substantial measure.

Expelled from his party on occasion, he had won reconciliation and deputy leadership and had been a member of Labor's "shadow cabinet" until illness struck him down.

It was Bevan's conviction that he had kept faith with the people who sent him to Parliament, with the miners who had started him on his upward career. Nye Bevan made enemies—he was bitter in his criticism of American leadership and influence as well as of domestic political foes. Yet few doubted his sincerity.

At his passing those who followed him without question and those who opposed him, have occasion to think of a personality, rough, tough, strong, effective—a man who had earned respect if not universal affection.

Showing Confidence With Hard Cash

MACMILLAN, BLOEDEL AND Powell River Limited is backing its faith in British Columbia's economic future with another $46 million investment—$24 million of it in an additional newsprint machine at the Port Alberni plant.

This is an impressive sum. It is added to the huge total already invested in the company's holdings by hard-headed businessmen in the anticipation of satisfactory returns.

In other words, the great timber, pulp and paper company, with an international reputation for efficiency, is saying that the province looks good to it—and the time for further expansion is now.

What this means to Vancouver Island is obvious. The construction project will provide direct employment to at least 600 men and will furnish jobs for a good many others indirectly. When completed and in operation the new unit means work for 200.

That, in itself, is an impressive contribution to development in this province. The announced plans should have another important influence. They should do a great deal more than oratory to stimulate further activity in other fields—a trend noticeable close to Victoria in plans of Woodward Stores Limited to create a multi-million centre on Hillside and of other interests to build a million-and-one-half dollar shopping area on the old Saanich municipal yard site.

Here, in terms of hard cash, is evidence of a surging movement to expand our economy and to counteract any pessimism over the future of British Columbia industry.

The Port Alberni undertaking is of particular significance. In one department of the changing forest industry, on which the province depends for about 50 cents of its production dollar, a highly competent firm is moving out to meet the demands of the future. At the same time, it is committed to another $22 million in improving existing plants and completing its flakeboard and fine paper mills.

Welcome Visitors

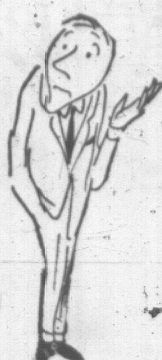

VICTORIA IS HOST THIS WEEK to a hundred or more members of the Canadian Authors' Association many of whom need no personal introduction to Canadian readers. During their convention they will discuss problems common to writers, including no doubt the ever-present question of markets.

Of all visitors, these men and women from all parts of Canada could best be expected to write home graphic descriptions of their stay here. It is fortunate that we are able to show them our very best weather, scenery and summer gardens. Who knows in what future novel, play or poem our attractions may appear in more or less recognizable form?

I RATIONALIZE A LOT.

BUT I NEVER KNOW WHEN I'M DOING IT. THAT'S WHY I NEED FRIENDS.

SO I CAN EXPLAIN TO THEM MY IDEAS AND IF THEY SAY "OH, COME ON NOW, BERNARD YOU'RE RATIONALIZING!"

THEN I KNOW I'VE BEEN RATIONALIZING. BUT IF THEY SAY "SEE, BERNARD THAT DOES SOUND LOGICAL."

THEN I KNOW THAT POSSIBLY I'M STILL RATIONALIZING BUT THEN AGAIN IT COULD BE THE TRUTH.

WITHOUT FRIENDS TO TELL ME, I'D NEVER KNOW WHO I AM.

LOOSE ENDS

And No Veal Cutlets From Your Tail-Coat Pocket

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

IN its present revision of Canada's election laws Parliament might well consider, but probably won't, the testimony of the late G. K. Chesterton. His famous essay on the subject of elections shows how far the democratic process has lately improved. In Chesterton's time, not so long ago, the lawmakers of Britain were deeply worried about illegal election bribes of a few shillings. Today we reckon bribes in hundreds of millions of dollars, all of course perfectly legal. Thus mankind advances. Sweet are the uses of democracy.

Hutchison

Your modern politician would hardly recognize Chesterton, an enthusiastic amateur of politics, who canvassed the London voters in many stirring elections and, to keep within the law, always carried a neatly printed card which explained the rules of canvassing (a primitive art now replaced by television and Dr. Gallup.)

THE first rule in Britain, as in Canada at that time, forbade any canvasser to play a voter with food or drink. "You must not," wrote Chesterton, "produce a veal cutlet from your tail-coat pocket."

You must not conceal poached eggs about your person. You must not, like a kind of conjurer, produce a baked potato from your hat."

English politics must have been in a sad, degraded state when it was necessary to prohibit such repulsive acts of bribery. Happily you seldom hear of anything like that in Canada today. During more than 40 years of association with Canadian politics I cannot remember a single politician campaigning with veal cutlets. No election in my experience has been voided by the horrid discovery of an illegal poached egg. No candidate produced a baked potato from his hat, which he generally used for another purpose. He talked through it, but strictly according to law.

No, our politics are much too honest to tolerate small bribes. The candidate, sternly resisting these temptations, does not offer the voter a meal worth a dollar or two.

HE offers him a post office, road or bridge worth several millions. If the candidate is a big man he does not pull a sandwich from his lunch box; he pulls a vision of northern development from his brief case. He does not stoop to groceries as he sways the hungry taxpayer; he promises vastly increased expenditures, lower taxes, full employment and higher pensions for everybody. Our politics are growing more honest all the time.

But one slight difference between this enlightened era and those wicked old times in England is perhaps worth noting. The dishonest English candidate, deaf to morals and contemptuous of the law, would buy his cutlets, eggs and potatoes secretly with his own money and present them to the voter without charge. Now-a-days the proffered benefits, worth a billion or so at every national election, are all paid for by the recipient. He is delighted with the politician's generous hospitality but he invariably picks up the cheque.

IN all the history of economics no other such thrifty and efficient arrangement has ever been invented. In the whole field of morals nothing could be so immaculate as the voter bribed with his own money. It is evil, as every right-minded man will agree for a candidate to use his own money to influence the individual citizen in the sacred use of the franchise, but it is obviously ethical for him to use the public's money to influence the electorate at large.

It is ethical because it contains no deception. Everyone understands the arrangement and approves it again and again, as our elections demonstrate by electing the party which offers the most public money to the public. The larger the offer, the more ethical the party that makes it.

Oddly enough, some of our politicians have sometimes questioned these respectable methods. The late R. B. Bennett, for instance, might not boggle over a veal cutlet; he saw no real danger in small bribes of that sort but he deplored the larger, legal bribes of election promises.

SENATOR C. G. POWER, then an opposition member of Parliament, was so impressed by Lord Bennett's homily that he drafted and actually introduced in the House of Commons a law forbidding a candidate to promise any extra expenditure of public money at election time, but somehow that drastic statute got lost in the rush and has never been heard of again.

The bribe remains legal, provided it is large enough. The veal cutlet and poached egg are out of date and condemned by a moral society, but an unscrupulous voter here and there may privately regret their passing.

It must have been comforting for a taxpayer in those immoral days to know where his next meal was coming from, to enter the polling booth well fed at someone else's expense and, to prove his own integrity, vote for the other candidate. At least you could get your teeth into a cutlet but it is not so easy to live on visions.

Playing the Fashionable Parlor Game of Growthmanship

By WALTER LIPPMANN

THE other day at St. Louis the vice-president announced that "we are now engaged in what will become, before this year is out, a major national debate over the subject of economic growth." Who will be debating with whom, and about what? According to Mr. Nixon, while we are all in favor of growth, the critics of the administration, namely Gov. Rockefeller and the leading Democrats, are not to be taken seriously. For they are playing "the most fashionable parlor game of our time—a game that might well be called 'growthmanship'."

Just why do these playboys spend so much time and energy on a mere parlor game? It is because they realize the great importance of America's slowed-down rate of growth.

At our rate of growth in recent years we are unable to meet our public needs, to add to our defenses, and at the same time to keep on increasing private investment and to keep on raising the civilian standard of life.

The United States has been producing less than it needs and less than its economy is capable of producing.

From 1953, which marked the end of the Korean war boom, through 1959, the average rate of increase of output has been only 2.4 per cent. The average is low because in those seven years there were two recessions.

The net result was that the average rate of increase was less than the average 3 per cent, from 1870 to 1930. Yet in these seven years of sluggish growth, the country has had the capacity—it has had the labor, the capital equipment, and the technical know-how—to grow at the rate of at least 4 per cent.

It may not seem like a big difference, to grow at an average rate of less than 3 per cent or to grow at an average of 4 per cent. But in an economy of 500 billion, it makes an enormous difference.

Each percentage point of increase is about 5 billion dollars, and so the difference between our recent average rate of 2.4 per cent and the 4 per cent which we are quite capable of is the difference between adding 12 billions a year and adding 20 billions a year to our wealth.

We have a rapidly growing population. At only 12 billions increase, we cannot spend more on defence and on our public needs—such as education and urban development and scientific research—without reducing the improvements, in perhaps without cutting back, the civilian standard of life.

But at 4 per cent with 20 billions, we can afford to do the things that reasonable men, including as we shall see the vice-president himself, think should be done.

That is why our concern with our growth is not a parlor game.

Judging by his St. Louis speech, Mr. Nixon does not understand the problem. For after scoffing at the popular interest in growth, he concludes his own speech with a broad general endorsement of a large spending program.

That, at least, is what he calls it when Gov. Rockefeller and the Democrats propose the same kind of program. Under his auspices it ceases to be a spending program and it becomes "investment in the public sector."

He would invest in "our public education establishments, in our national transportation system, in the renewal of our run-down urban areas, in the development of our natural and human resources, in providing imaginative new leadership for the exciting scientific and technological revolution which will dramatically change the whole character of life in America and the world in our lifetime."

He goes on to say, as if he thought he were Nelson Rockefeller, John F. Kennedy, and Hubert Humphrey rolled into one, that "timidity in these areas would be as detrimental to the national interest as timidity in private investment."

In this extraordinary passage Mr. Nixon has adopted the domestic program of his opponents. But there is still a difference between him and the Democrats and Gov. Rockefeller. He does not say, and assuredly he does not know, how to pay for the expensive program which he now advocates, for it cannot be paid for unless there is a substantial rise in the average rate of growth except by cutting down on private investment and on private consumption.

So if Mr. Nixon wants his promises to the voters to be taken seriously, he will have to learn to play the parlor game of growthmanship.

Ban Tests

Dr. Albert Schweitzer has said "Only those who have never been present at the birth of a deformed baby, never witnessed the whimpering-shock of the mother, dare to maintain that the risk in going on with nuclear testing is one which must be taken under existing circumstances."

"It is the particular duty of women to prevent this sin against the future. It is for them to raise their voices against it in such a way that they will be heard."

Across Canada, women are writing to Prime Minister Diefenbaker, House of Commons, Ottawa, or The Hon. L. B. Pearson, Ottawa, or Hazen Argue, MP, Ottawa, or all three, to tell them that the women's vote will be cast only for those who publicly endorse immediate world disarmament, with reasonable verification, a world ban on tests, and an honest approach to co-operation with all nations.

Ease Up

Recently there have been allegations that a considerable number of Chinese have been illegally entering Canada. Why, may I ask, does this present government put so much emphasis on this matter, and why be so biased in letting in the Chinese people?

The Chinese people have played a most predominant part in the building up of this Dominion of ours. They were practically responsible for the building of our first railway link across Canada by coolie Chinese labor. They were brought over by the thousands in those years, and their sons and daughters from that generation are a credit to community in which you and I live.

They are certainly no burden on the city for they, above all people, bear one another's burdens.

I have had the pleasure of dealing with them for the last 25 years and in my estimation they are one of the cleanest, most trustworthy and respected people of any community, a credit to any. Very seldom have any of these Chinese people abrogated the laws of this land, and may I ask have you ever seen a drunken Chinaman? Many of them have served this country well through the armed forces, and they have taken their place amidst the society of today, and quite aptly so.

If the truth were known, there may have been many other nationalities that have entered Canada illegally, but why hasn't anything been said about them?

I believe that the Canadian government should ease up on the present stringent measures on Chinese immigrants, and also take a second look into the good they have contributed to Canada. Far more, I am ashamed to say, than a lot of us of Canadian birth. All the best to them.

CHARITY.

'Keen on Deane'

There is ample evidence appearing at the moment that all is not well in the Sacred ranks. In Salmon Arm the sitting member got the boot. In Delta the votes were tallied and a hurried call went to Victoria which resulted in a "re-count." In North Vancouver there was fear that the minister of agriculture might be tossed aside at the nominating convention, so it was arranged that he be nominated separately and thus honor was saved. All very interesting and, for those dabbling in the science of government, most enlightening.

But, what we in the North Shore consider the major crack in the armor of the Sacred cow, is the unseemly haste in bringing about reduction in the bridge tolls after Deane Finlayson promised their complete removal. A government that can spend millions on a railway that is losing money and cutting service, should not have to continue to impose tolls on a long-suffering public.

In North Vancouver we have been prevented from attracting industry because of tolls, but there is a chance now that Mr. Finlayson has started the ball rolling that we on the North Shore may soon be able to accommodate those industries that have signified their willingness to settle here, held back only by an archaic toll system that would cut into potential revenue. At last it looks as if we on the North Shore have a spokesman to plead our case and we are now determined to forge forward with Finlayson.

W. BRANDER, 4037 Ripple Road, West-Vancouver.

Cirrhosis of the Liver

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

Many persons suffering from cirrhosis of the liver wonder why their physician cannot quickly give them some medicine or diet that will cure them. They haven't any idea what their problem is. Perhaps it is just as well that they cannot see their shriveled-up remnant of a liver, made up mainly of the blood vessels and ducts and fibrous tissues that are left after most of the functioning cells are gone. Perhaps these cells were destroyed by a severe hepatitis, or by much drinking.

Alvarez

As Drs. C. M. Leevy, G. R. Chebrick and C. S. Davidson recently wrote, this scarring and shriveling makes it hard for all the blood which normally comes from the stomach and bowel to get through the liver on its way to the heart. The blood tends to back up, and the blood pressure in the "portal" system (the portal vein carries the blood from the bowel into the liver) causes a number of things to happen.

One is an enlargement of the spleen, an organ which lies under the lower ribs on the left side. The changes in the spleen can give rise to anemias and other serious troubles. Sometimes, to relieve these difficulties the spleen is removed surgically, or a by-pass opening is made between certain veins, with the hope of shunting the blood around the liver. Unfortunately, these shunt operations can have some undesirable effects, and hence they are performed only when absolutely necessary.

Another serious result of portal hypertension is a great enlargement of the veins in the wall of the lower part of the esophagus (gullet). Often, these veins rupture and cause serious bleeding. Another common result of a cirrhosis of the liver is ascites, or the filling-up of the abdominal cavity with fluid—a form of dropsy.

What is good is that more and more is now being learned about the chemistry of all of these disturbances, and this gives us physicians hope that some day soon we will be able to do something really curative for the persons who find themselves suffering from the end-results of portal hypertension. As yet, we have no good remedies.

Recently, Dr. Wm. H. Saunders and Wm. H. Lippy reported that quite a few adults get mumps without any swelling of the glands near the ear. The fact that they have the disease can be shown by the high titer in their blood of so-called mumps antibody.

A certain number of these people get a sudden attack of severe deafness, usually in only one ear. Others get a temporary paralysis of one-half of their face.

At a recent meeting in Atlanta a Harvard professor of surgery, Dr. Carl W. Walter, complained that today too many transfusions of blood are being given. He said that nowadays more people die of transfusions than of appendicitis. The deaths are bad enough, but no one knows how many more hundreds of people there are who, after having been given a blood transfusion—of doubtful necessity—later, after from two to six months, came down with a dangerous attack of hepatitis. No one is ever going to give me a transfusion unless, at the time, the need for it is very great.

Many years ago my good friend, Dr. Van Leeuwen of Holland, told me that he had been struck by the fact that when he put a dozen wheezing patients with an all-year-round type of asthma into a hospital, half of them promptly got well. Why did this happen? The doctor soon decided that it must be because a hospital room is monastic in its simplicity, without drapes or carpeting, or stuffed furniture, or anything to produce or gather dust. Also, the mattress on the bed has been sterilized (which process gets rid of irritant mites). The hospital pillows may be made of some harmless new synthetic substance; they are not full of the feathers that are often so harmful to asthmatics. Also, the patient may have left at home his cat or dog or parakeet.

Having discovered these factors that produce asthma (not due just to pollen), Van Leeuwen had his patients clean out their rooms at home, and perhaps get rid of their pets. In some cases he had the pillows and mattresses enclosed in plastic covers. Then the doctor found that if he sent a dozen asthmatics—sensitive to pollen—high up into the Swiss mountains, most of them promptly got well. And so he built an apparatus to go into the patient's bedroom window—an apparatus designed to filter out pollen. Today electrical apparatuses to do this have been devised by several companies.

Clean Daffodil, Tulip Bulbs

The cleaning of daffodil and tulip bulbs after being dug in June has a profound psychological effect on the replanting of them in fall.

Consequently, the results are always better. In my opinion, if the bulbs are properly cleaned and carefully sorted into sizes.

When it comes to replanting time in the busy fall gardening season, it is much more inspiring to have clean, graded bulbs to work with than a mass of earth-covered roots with old leaves still attached.

I have seen bulbs replanted in the same condition as they were dug, and apart from the advantage of being in fresh soil, no appreciable improvement in flowering has resulted. Our tulip and daffodil bulbs usually are left for cleaning until some of these July days. When the heat is just too intense, for working in the sunny, open garden.

The garage is a good place for the work, for temporary benches can be set up with a plank or two so that the job is pleasant enough. A container for the discarded foliage, earth and small bulbs will save much cleaning up later.

Flats or boxes for the different sizes and kinds will keep them separate. I like to keep only the top size and the middle size, and throw away the rest.

In the case of rare, or particularly expensive bulbs, it pays to keep all sizes so that an increase will be gradually built up.

A wooden name label should be clearly printed for each group of bulbs so that no doubt arises as to their identity later.

I once heard of a fine bag of onions being dutifully planted by a husband, while his wife was in hospital. He thought they were the daffodils she had asked him to be sure to plant. She found the daffs later, safely in another bag in the basement while looking for the onions!

Democrat Rivals Step Up 'Stop Kennedy' Movement

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Supporters of rival candidates for president stepped up their campaign Wednesday pumped steam into a drive to prevent Senator John Kennedy being chosen as the candidate for president in off-stage manoeuvres before the Democratic party's election convention.

Two of three key states—Pennsylvania, California and Illinois or New Jersey—appeared likely to swing the balance of power in the convention.

A southern hospitality suite blossomed at the convention headquarters, scene at the Biltmore Hotel. It offered liquid refreshments and Kennedy buttons to all comers. Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas, a formal candidate for the presidential nomination for the last 24 hours, has his greatest strength in the south.

Kennedy supporters are aiming at a first-ballot blitz. But at this point they are short of the 761 votes needed to clinch the nomination.

COULD SETTLE IT
Vote switches could settle it all before the first roll call is closed if the convention sticks to its tradition of allowing switches at that point.

The first test of strength could come next Monday between Kennedy and the anti-Kennedy field, when the convention adopts the rules under which it will operate.

Supporters of Adlai Stevenson and Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri are aiming at a new rule that would block switching at the close of the first ballot and hold them over until the second.

U.S. Electoral Procedures Explained

(The neighboring United States is in the throes of choosing a new president and its next government. Canadians will see, hear and read a lot about it during the next few months. Since United States procedure for elections differs considerably from those of Canada, Times writer Norman Cribbens has prepared a series what takes place. The first appears below.)

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Millions of voters in the United States will go to the polls next November to mark secret ballots with their selections for president.

At the same time they will choose about one-third of the United States Senate and all 437 members of the House of Representatives. The Senate and the House of Representatives together form Congress.

Every Two Years

The United States constitution requires a congressional election every two years to elect members of the House of Representatives for two-year terms and one-third of the Senate for six-year terms.

500 Attracted By Glitter Of Gem Show

Close to 500 persons have attended the Vancouver Island rock and gem show in the Douglas Room at the Hudson's Bay Company.

Opened Monday and originally scheduled to end this week, it will instead be open to the public for the following week also at the request of the store management.

Most popular displays up to now have been those showing both rough materials and finished products, but the four Island gem clubs sponsoring the show today installed cutting and polishing machines for exhibition purposes, and expect they will be an attraction.

There are 17 display tables, with most of them devoted to B.C. stones and gems, but there also are jewels from all parts of the world. In addition there is a collection of fossils, and an exhibition loaned by the provincial mines department.

Presidential elections are held at four-year intervals.

First step in the process which ultimately selects party candidates are the primary elections, which were held in the different states between March and June of this year.

Primary elections do not decide who fills political offices. This will be decided at the general election in November. As a general rule, votes may be cast in a primary election only by persons who are registered members of a party. They select from among the aspirants the candidates of the party who will stand in the general election for the various offices to be filled.

Conventions

At these primary elections, participants also vote for delegates to the party conventions who represent the presidential candidate they prefer. Delegates are also elected at state conventions or by state executive committees.

The group of delegates receiving the most votes will attend national conventions of the Democrat and Republican parties this month. At these conventions the parties adopt platforms and nominate candidates for the presidency and vice-presidency.

When voting day comes in November the voter does not mark his ballot directly for the candidate he wants as president. He votes under what is known as the electoral college system.

It was started early in the nation's history when direct voting was impossible because of lack of information, great distances and poor communications.

Since then, it has survived more than 100 attempts in Congress to alter or abolish it.

Election Day

This is how it works: On presidential election day each state elects as many electors as it has senators and representatives in Congress.

BRITISH FORDS

OLSON MOTORS

This year, with 100 senators and 437 representatives, there will be 537 members of the Electoral College. So a majority of 269 electoral votes—just over half—will be required to elect the president and vice-president.

Political parties usually nominate their lists of electors at their state conventions. An elector cannot be a member of Congress or any person holding federal office.

Electors' List

Some states print the names of the candidates for president and vice-president at the top of the ballot while others list only the names of the electors. In either case, the electors of the party receiving the highest vote are elected.

The electors meet in their state capitals some five weeks after the presidential election.

Custom dictates that electors give all the state's electoral votes to their party's candidate, although they are NOT required to do so by the constitution—and there have been rare occasions when electors have refused to follow custom.

Differences

Thus the entire electoral vote of a state goes to the candidate who polls a plurality of the popular vote, however small.

The candidate polling a majority of the Electoral College wins, and this can lead to some startling differences. For instance, in 1940 when Franklin D. Roosevelt polled 55 per cent of the popular vote, Wendell Wilkie polled 45 per cent. Yet Roosevelt received 84 per cent of the electoral vote.

Certified copies of the votes of the electors are mailed to the president of the U.S. Senate.

The Senate and the House of Representatives sit as one body on Jan. 6 to count the electoral votes of all the states.

If no candidate for president has a majority, the House of Representatives chooses a president from among the three highest candidates, with all representatives from each state combining to cast one vote for that state.

If no candidate for vice-president has a majority, the Senate chooses from the top two, with Senators voting as individuals.

Fine way to carry on a telephone conversation!

It's a new kind of telephoning — with a hands-free, feet-on-the-desk kind of convenience. The combination of two telephone services, the Dialaphone and Speakerphone, makes this three-way telephone conversation possible.

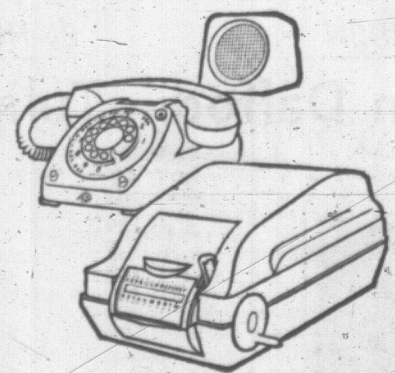

No need to rummage through directories to ferret out telephone numbers—the Dialaphone remembers them for you. This mechanical memory lists up to 800 names and telephone numbers. You can add to or change any numbers on your original list. To phone, you simply turn to a name, press a key and presto, your call is dialed — automatically!

The Speakerphone takes over where the Dialaphone leaves off. When the Dialaphone has done its job, you just sit back and carry on your conversation. Your voice goes through a tiny microphone in the base of this modern desk telephone. The voice of the person you're calling comes through a small speaker (usually hidden). The volume can be adjusted to any level. It's made to order for conferences; great for jotting down notes while you talk.

The Dialaphone and Speakerphone can be used separately or together. Both are compact, attractive, easy on the budget. They're rented. No maintenance or depreciation.

Why not try this new way to telephone? And while you're at it — how about letting our representative give your office communications the once-over? He's got a kit-full of ideas on how to make your communications more efficient and economical. He'll be seeing you soon... sooner if you make an appointment through our new Marketing and Sales Department now.

Want to know more about our Speakerphone or Dialaphone? Have your secretary phone us. In Vancouver it's MU 3-5511. Outside Vancouver, ask the Operator for Zenith 7000. (No charge for the call.) We'll send your brochures straightaway.

John D., Pearson In Warhead Spat

OTTAWA (CP)—The question of acquisition of American nuclear warheads for Canadian forces took a new turn Wednesday.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker maintained in the Commons that he had never said that Canada would have sole control over such warheads. What he had said, he avowed, was "joint control."

A first-class row between the prime minister and Opposition Leader Pearson erupted on this point.

Mr. Pearson began the exchange by asking whether any nuclear warheads which might be provided Canadian, forces under NATO forces in Europe would be under "sole Canadian control" in the same way that Mr. Diefenbaker had "indicated" they would be in Canada.

"At no time did I say sole control," the prime minister declared. "I said joint control of Canada as to use and also as to everything connected therewith, and that statement still stands."

QUOTES RECORD

Mr. Pearson read from Monday's Commons records, in which the prime minister said "... If and when the Canadian government should decide to equip its forces with nuclear weapons, those weapons would be under Canadian control and would be used in Canada only as the result of a decision by the Canadian government."

Wednesday the prime minister said Mr. Pearson had "deliberately or unintentionally" used the words "sole control."

He suggested that Mr. Pearson "not quote or pretend to quote, something that he knows is not correct."

'GET BASES REMOVED'

—KHRUSHCHEV

KLAGENFURT, Austria (Reuters) — Nikita Khrushchev Wednesday asked Austria to seek the removal of U.S. rocket bases from northern Italy near the Austrian frontier.

The Soviet premier spoke at a luncheon here in his honor. Khrushchev said that even though Austria observes neutrality, it could "do much" toward securing peace in Europe by complaining to Italy, NATO member, about the American bases near its frontier.

'New Look' Promised At Canada Transport

OTTAWA (CP)—Transport Minister Hees said today the government hopes to formulate a "new approach" to Canada's transportation troubles by next April—based on a report from a royal commission still studying the problem.

But if the commission does not meet the April deadline, he indicated that the government could continue its hold-the-line policy on freight rates and keep up its $20,000,000-a-year freight subsidy.

Mr. Hees made the statement as the Commons railways committee approved a government bill to extend the current $20,000,000 subsidy to reduce certain freight rates for nine months to April 30, 1961.

Protest Flavor Didn't Taint Individual Feats

Nanaimo 11, Victoria 10.

Most of the dressing room noise hinged on a protest, but even that indignant and oft outrageous chatter could not drown out the creak of turning milestones.

So it was Wednesday night in the Victoria quarters where playoff hopes were ebbing although the management announced that Nanaimo's 11-10 victory will be protested. And while the protest discussion held the floor, veterans Jack E. Northup and Fredrick R. (Whitey) Severson quietly slipped into street clothes.

It wasn't the best time to reach another milestone. But there is time while the Inter-City Lacrosse League commission deals with the protest to pay those venerable veterans a few more dues than they received Wednesday at Memorial Arena.

Mr. Northup and Mr. Severson each picked up two points. On other nights, it would have been just an ordinary effort. Severson set up two goals and was unfortunate in not picking up at least two more.

The two points, however, were enough to equal the ICLL's all-time scoring record of 931 points, which Bill Dickinson set during 16 seasons.

Northup scored one goal, a partially-screened drive that enabled Victoria to step off the floor at half-time holding their own with a 5-5 tie. That marker, however, enabled Jack E. to become the first player in ICLL history to score 500 goals during regular league play.

His 13th of the season, the goal raised Northup's lifetime goal-getting figure to 631, including playoffs. That, too, happens to be a record he continues to improve with each goal.

Neither Northup nor Severson found much satisfaction out of their evening's work.

Refs Didn't Assess Team Penalty

The same reasoning by coach Norm Baker and manager Ralph Baker quickly caused the Victoria management to protest Wednesday's verdict.

Pending the commission's decision on the protest, the victory moved Nanaimo eight points ahead of Victoria in the run for the third and last playoff berth. All league teams have eight games left to play.

The protest is being based on the grounds that the referees neglected to hand out a one-minute minor to Nanaimo for having too many players on the floor.

The officials caught the infraction and whistled play to a halt. They neglected, however, to assess Nanaimo with a team penalty. The incident occurred in the fourth quarter, after Nanaimo's Don Ashbee and Ed Kowalyk were tagged with majors for fighting. Ashbee was also handed an additional two-minute penalty for slashing, which took effect before the major sentence.

Minus defencemen Arnie Dugan, who was ill, and Lisle Scott, who was unable to get time off from work in the Hub City, Nanaimo coach Red McMillan played scoring leader Jack Blonda, Skip MacKay, Tom McVie and Don Ashbee for about 45 minutes.

Blonda scored four goals and set up MacKay for the winner on a beautiful play. Ashbee and MacKay each scored twice while McVie had a goal and two assists.

The Victoria squad again came up with too many defensive lapses but, on the credit side, did manage to throw out their best power-play attack of the season. Five of Victoria's 10 goals came on the odd-man play.

Stew Smith, Alan Gill and Ron Jay each scored twice for Baker's boys while singles went to Northup, Al Davies, Jim McNeill and Jack Wilson.

SIDELINE SLANTS

BY

Doug Peden

It surprised a lot of people when Guyle Fielder walked in with a par 69 at Oak Bay Monday and earned a share of the lead at the halfway mark of the qualifying test of the Pacific Northwest Golf Association tournament.

GUYLE FIELDER.

But there was nothing surprising about Guyle's score to the guys who have pounded the fairways with the greatest point-collector in Western Hockey League history.

Owning the fine coordination and timing of a good athlete, the four-time WHL scoring king is capable of giving par a lacing on his good days.

He had one of his good ones last summer while winning the club championship at Wayne, a nine-hole Seattle course. Guyle made two trips around the layout in 63 strokes, five under par.

He also has a 62 to his credit on the same course, but like most weekend golfers, Guyle has a habit of mixing ordinary days with the good ones. He had an average afternoon Tuesday when he was three over par to finish in a fourth-place tie in the race for the PNGA medal. He had another on the picturesque Oak Bay links Wednesday on the way to dropping a 3-and-1 verdict to Bremerton's Denny Duerden.

There is nothing unusual about finding a puck star who is a better than average hand with a niblick. Most prominent of the current crop is Bill Ezlinicki, now a pro at Reading, Mass. Among others are Andy Bathgate, winner of the Vancouver City Open a few weeks back, and Stan Baluk, who tolled with Victoria Cougars a couple of seasons ago and holds down a summer job as an assistant golf pro.

Doug Adam and Blinky Boyce were another pair of low-handicappers and they introduced Fielder to the pitch-and-putt pastime at the Peace Portal course while the trio was scoring gobs of goals for the former New Westminster Royals. Guyle, who was along when little Blinky dunked his first hole-in-one, now regrets that the introduction didn't come sooner.

Not that he thinks he could have carved out a paying career on the fairways, but after being "more or less a regular golfer for eight summers," Fielder, at 29, is bound to wonder what he might have accomplished if he started putting at the same time he started playing shiny.

Some fairway folks, including former Victorian Jack Walker, also entered in this PNGA clambake and one of Guyle's regular weekend rivals at Seattle's Ingleswood club, believe that Fielder, given an earlier start, and more time at the task, could have accomplished a lot in the divot league.

One thing is certain. The dead-panned, seemingly-moody scoring slicker of the hockey wars is happier around a golf course—relaxed, quick to smile and easy to talk to.

The talk, naturally, got around to hockey and the owner of the WHL record of 122 points in one season expects to be back doing business with the Totems next winter.

"It looks like there are going to be quite a few changes in Seattle next season," Guyle said. "I hope I'm not one of them."

"You might mention," he added, "that I have a real good little caddy, Don Wilson. He plays in your minor hockey association and I understand he's a pretty good little golfer. I sure wish I had started golf at his age."

THAT ONE HURT!

Former welterweight boxing king Virgil Akins gasps with pain as Louis Rodriguez, left, drives him against ropes in third round of televised fight at Louisville Wednesday night. Rodriguez got unanimous decision in bout, from which 35 per cent of receipts will go to family of welterweight Rudell Stuch, who was drowned in a vain attempt to rescue fishing companion. (Associated Press Wirephoto)

Maris Clouts No. 27 As Yanks Trip Orioles

By UP International

Did you catch Roger Maris and Bob Skinner in that sneak preview of the all-star game? You should have because it was a smash hit all the way around.

Maris and Skinner will be on opposite sides in the all-star game at Kansas City next Tuesday and they still may be on opposite sides come World Series time next fall.

Maris helped the Yankees widen their American League lead to two games when he hit his 27th homer Wednesday night in a 3-2 victory over the Orioles, while Skinner put the Pirates 5½ games ahead in the National League with an inside-the-park grand slam homer that routed the Reds, 5-2.

The homer by Maris, off loser Skinny Brown, moved him seven games ahead of Babe Ruth's record 1927 timetable. Ruth didn't hit his 27th home until the Yankees' 78th game that year and last night's game was the Yankees' 71st. Cletis Boyer also homered against the Orioles, who were held to seven hits by Whitey Ford now 5-5.

SINKING LINER

In the game between the Pirates and Reds, Cincinnati led, 1-0, behind Bob Purkey until the eighth inning when Pittsburgh tied the score on a single and three walks. Facing reliever Bill Henry, Skinner then sent a sinking liner to left field which rolled all the way to the wall as Wally Post made a futile attempt at a shoestring catch. Rookie Tom Cheney was the winner. The White Sox defeated the Indians, 7-5, the Senators downed the Red Sox, 4-0, and the Athletics beat the Tigers, 6-4, in other American League games.

In the National League, the Phillies humbled the Braves, 8-5, in 10 innings, the Dodgers walloped the Giants, 10-0, and the Cubs crushed the Cardinals, 10-1.

As indicated in the accompanying illustration, notice how the angles of the knees, hips and shoulders are nearly identical.

Perpetuating the feeling that the arms are close together, the left arm is straight as the wrists begin to cock, the right arm and elbow close to the side. The wrists have fully cocked as the backswing is finished. The left shoulder is almost directly under the chin. The right arm is close to the left side, the elbow remaining down.

HEARD SHOUTS

Diabetic Owes Life To Logger

(From Duncan Bureau)

Mrs. Jessie Bell Trueman, 68, of 482 Chesterfield Street, Duncan, is alive and well today because a logger inspected his 100-acre holding near Shawanigan Lake at noon Tuesday.

Trueman, diabetic and a widow, was weak from spending nearly 40 hours in her car after it became stuck in the swampy ending of a tractor logging road.

She was missed after leaving a family picnic at Mountain View Resort about 8 p.m. Sunday, and was found at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday.

HEARD CALLS

Joseph Nick, 49, of Grieve Road, Duncan just happened into the area because of an interest in the fire hazard situation on his logging holding.

"I was on foot and heard hollering," he said. I heard it for quite a while. It sounded like a child.

"It sure was lucky I went in there, because she'd never have gotten out."

NO INSULIN

She had stayed with her car because of weakness due to lack of food and insulin.

She became lost after wandering off the Shawanigan Lake road on to the Silver Mine Road. She then drove on to a logging road and went as far as possible, ending up in a swamp with her car stuck beside a tree.

Stock Charge On Farmer Remanded

(From Duncan Bureau)

Henry Yow Chung, Victoria, who pleaded not guilty in Duncan police court to a charge of acting as a stock dealer without a licence, was remanded Wednesday by Magistrate A. C. Sutton to July 13 for trial.

The charge, laid by deputy brands inspector Alfred L. Kirby of Nanaimo, was that Chung dealt without a licence during April and May of this year. Chung said he was a farmer who sold some stock as a sideline, and had a licence for the months listed in the charge.

LEAVING TODAY for Camp Borden, Ont., Victoria air cadet WO2 Bryan Forrest, 17, will take seven week course in senior leadership at the RCAF training centre there. Eight Hurt In Accident At Cowichan LAKE COWICHAN—Eight people were injured, one of them seriously, in a two-car collision one mile east of here Wednesday afternoon.

Claude Kramer, 50, of Lake Cowichan, is in Royal Jubilee Hospital in Victoria, where his condition today was described as "unchanged." Injuries included a dislocated vertebra and possible neck fracture.

He was a passenger in a car driven by his son-in-law, D. J. Tjensvold, who suffered a badly cut hand. In hospital at Duncan, but in good condition today, are Mrs. Tjensvold, who suffered concussion and cuts on the face, and her daughter, Shirley Melina, 18 months, who was bruised.

Sheila Joy Tjensvold, four, escaped serious injury.

In the second car were Cecil Ashley, 16, driver; Bud Ordano, and Ronald Klein, all of Duncan, and John Bailey, Cowichan Station. Ashley suffered a broken nose, and all had cuts treated at the scene. They did not enter hospital. Both cars were reported wrecked.

Golden Hawks Ban Flash Bulbs

"No flashbulbs near our aircraft, please," the seven Sabre pilots of the RCAF Golden Hawks will ask of camera fans at Air Force Day at Comox Airport Saturday.

"Use your flashbulbs in open shade. Pose the youngsters near a Sabre jet for a souvenir picture. Do not hesitate to ask if there is any way we can help you with your pictures, but . . .

"To avoid a freak explosion, please do not use flashbulbs near or inside any of the aircraft."

Woman Near Drowning In Rescue Bid

DUNCAN—Mrs. Ken Spencer of Duncan was revived Tuesday afternoon after almost losing her life in an attempted rescue of Dick Hyzel, endoorn near Mariner's Pool on Cowichan River.

A mother of six, she swam to the boy's rescue immediately on hearing his shouting, but he clutched her and overpowered her as she tried to take him to shore.

A group of men swimming at the pool went to her aid, and pulled her from the river unconscious. Their artificial respiration and work by a Duncan Volunteer Fire Department rescuer crew revived her in 30 minutes.

Lee Wolf, of Cowichan Lake Road, who helped to rescue her, said the boy held her around the neck and that "she couldn't do anything." The boy was "sputtering and retching" when they arrived, he said, but was conscious and recovered.

'Just Civil Defence'

BENSON, ARIZ. (AP)—Officers armed with search warrants Wednesday broke into the hiding place of several members of a small religious sect which believes the United States faces imminent destruction by atomic attack.

After kicking open the rear door of the home of a member of the Full Gospel Assembly, the officers found a trap door in the floor of a closet in the master bedroom.

The trap door was lifted, revealing another trap door, locked from below. Persistent knocking brought an answer from the head of the house, Glenn Scott, 36.

"I'll tell you why we are here," said an annoyed Scott, as he stood in a 10-foot deep subterranean bomb shelter lined with concrete blocks.

"We are doing what the government has told everyone to do—taking an active part in civil defence preparation."

EXPECT NUCLEAR ATTACK

Scott said he and his friends expect a nuclear attack by the Soviet Union. This, he indicated, was revealed by divine prophecy.

Scott scoffed at reports that he and the rest of the congregation, estimated at about 100 persons, believe the end of the world is at hand.

In the shelter with Scott were his wife and five children, ranging from three to 11, and about 15 others. Other members of the church are believed to be holed in four other similar shelters. They have been underground since Monday night.

LONDON (Reuters)—Russian engineers have designed a tractor with a 100-horsepower engine capable of plowing five furrows simultaneously at six miles an hour, Tass news agency reported Wednesday.

EDITOR'S VIEWPOINT

'Canadians Search For Recognition'

Canadians have been so busy seeking recognition by others as equals they have not tried to excel, said Dr. John Webster Grant, editor of Ryerson Press, at the Canadian Authors' Association annual convention in the Crystal Garden Wednesday.

This quest for recognition had been the main factor in Canadian literature during the 19th century.

The first question of identity had been "French or British?" That was settled on the Plains of Abraham but then came the question: "What sort of British identity?"

SENSE OF PRIDE

Confederation had tremendous immediate results. It stirred up in this country an unfamiliar sense of pride, nationalism and greatness. Canadians were bitten by the bug of nationalism and with it came a painful exploration—trying to find out what was distinctive about them.

"We explained to the Americans we were not British and explained to the British we were not Americans," said Dr. Grant.

NATIONAL IMAGE

Eventually the painters made a breakthrough and before very long there emerged a national image recognized by everybody—their pictures of the north, hard and harsh yet at the same time colorful and inspiring.

Canadian soldiers in the Second World War, too, had helped get recognition for Canada as a nation. But now individual national identities did not matter so much in the global politics of today.

Dr. Grant predicted that future Canadian literature would tell less about environment and more about what was going on. There would be less emphasis on geography and more on psychology and even theology. Novels would be located where people were in the cities.

It may be, he said, that as literature moved in this direction there would be more fruitful dialogue with French Canadians. They, too, had been searching for identity.

CREATING PROBLEM, SAYS FAIREY

Mutual Aid Society Fades Out in Ghana

The problem facing Ghana and the other emergent nations of Africa is the switch over from a society based on mutual help to one based on money, Dr. F. T. Fairey told Victoria Kiwanis Tuesday.

Dr. Fairey, former provincial deputy minister of education, and also an ex-MP for Victoria, has just returned to Victoria after a period in Ghana where he has been serving UNESCO.

The way of life in these emergent nations, he said, had always been based upon the tribes; each person's work was a contribution to the general good of the tribe, which in turn benefited the village and eventually the whole race.

DON'T RETURN

Now, however, young men are leaving the villages to attend technical schools in the cities but are not returning. They prefer to get a job in the city and keep any money they earn for themselves.

Dr. Fairey drew a comparison between the colonial policies of Great Britain and the policies of France, Belgium and the Netherlands.

SOLID CORE

"Whenever a British administration has been succeeded by a native one there has always been a solid core of trained people capable of carrying on," he said. "Contrast that with what is happening in the Belgian Congo, where there is not a single trained native administrator."

Many of the native leaders were educated in Great Britain and the United States. They saw the western way of life and returned to their own countries frustrated.

"Why do white people have so much and we so little?" they asked.

NKRUMAH CLEVER

President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana was a clever and astute person and his policy was full independence.

At a recent conference of independent African states he offered to serve under any man capable of leading them all—knowing full well no one could equal him!

Prison Suicide 'In Coventry'

(Compiled from CP)

NEW WESTMINSTER — Warden F. C. Cummins of the B.C. penitentiary told a coroner's jury Wednesday a drug addict who committed suicide in his cell Sunday had been ostracized by the prison drug-addict faction "because of something he did on the outside."

The warden said Leonard McCarty, who was found hanging by a bedsheet, started his criminal career 15 years ago when he was 17 and had become an outcast partly by choice and partly by circumstance.

McCarty was serving a two-year sentence for drug possession on his third conviction and would have been released Nov. 2. The warden said he deliberately broke rules so he would be put in solitary confinement, apparently because he was afraid.

After nine months in close confinement McCarty was returned to normal prison life a few days before his death and it appeared he was no longer afraid, Mr. Cummins said.

A note found on McCarty's body may have offered some clue to the reason for his behaviour, the warden said. It was addressed to "Bill" and said: "When I gave Dor that weed I didn't know there was anything wrong with it. I like Dor."

The jury returned a verdict of suicide and said all possible measures had been taken at the prison for McCarty's welfare.

COSTLY BACKFIRE

KELOWNA — A motorist here has been ordered to pay a $50 fine and had his licence suspended for six months for making his car backfire intentionally. The charge was laid against David Smallshaw following complaints by residents about noise made by the vehicle.

"SOMETHING QUEER"

KAMLOOPS — Residents in the Red Lake area, 30 miles northeast of here were to be questioned today in connection with the disappearance of a baby girl, missing since Sunday.

Experienced woodsmen and police searched a square-mile section thoroughly Monday and Tuesday, and late Tuesday night the search was discontinued.

Betty Jean Masters, 21 months, had been playing with friends when she vanished. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Masters, said they were satisfied with the search.

One police officer described the incident as "queer" and suggested the child may have been taken away by a cougar or been kidnapped.

KILLED IN BLAZE

PRINCE GEORGE — One man was killed and another narrowly escaped injury when fire destroyed a home Wednesday at the Stoney Creek Indian Reserve, 82 miles west of here.

Dead is Joe Antoine, 81. An unidentified 12-year-old boy escaped flames by leaping through a window. The fire apparently started when Antoine knocked over a kerosene lamp while sleeping on a chertfield.

MONTREAL (UPI)—Underworld violence flared up early today less than three hours after night club owners and waiters had decided to rid themselves of shakedown protection racketeers.

Police said some 20 men, armed with baseball bats and other weapons, raided the Champlain Cafe, destroying the night club's equipment and musicians-instruments.

Five persons were injured.

Choose Accessories Carefully

Accessories and fittings give a boat greater eye appeal and—when wisely chosen—increase its safety and comfort.

These factors should have first consideration, because it is only too easy to acquire a load of gadgets that would be better left ashore.

For instance, deck fittings of fancy design have strong appeal to many new owners of boats, yet good cleats and chocks represent many centuries of trial and error to achieve the best configuration.

You will notice that a standard cleat has no sharp edges to injure the lines that are belayed to it, nor does it have sharp points which might injure the body through accidental contact.

The material from which a deck fitting is made is also important. It must have enough strength to hold the boat under any conditions of wind and tide that may be encountered under storm conditions. If your boat is used around salt water, bronze, brass, and certain grades of aluminum are the most satisfactory. If the polishing of brass or bronze is too laborious, the fittings can be plated. Plating is not too satisfactory around salt water and may have to be renewed every two or three years.

White metal fittings of the better grade are satisfactory in fresh water areas. Around salt water, the quality of plating on a white metal fitting has much to do with its life. Whether on salt water or fresh, if you are looking for a fitting that will last as long as the boat, choose one made of bronze.

No fitting is better than the fastening which holds it to the deck or hull. Take a walk around any marina after a bad storm which has been accompanied by high wind and waves. Notice the number of boats on which cleats have been torn out of the deck, or chocks from the combing or gunwale. Cleats and chocks should be through bolted wherever possible. This is particularly important on hulls of fiberglass reinforced plastic, or aluminum. A backing block of ample size to distribute the strain should always be used, and the bolts provided with washers.

Even on wood boats, where wood screws are frequently used, a better fastening is obtained by through bolting. If for some reason you must make the attachment with wood screws, use those made of silicon bronze, or Monel metal. The latter material is particularly desirable if the cleat or chock is plated. Do not use the soft brass type of screws employed in cabinet work or similar trades. It has insufficient strength to withstand the strain imposed under severe conditions.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—One of these weeks you'll be reading something like this:

"Tiny Tim Talmadge, the night club crooner, cancelled last night's show. He had the colic."

For the small fry and the teen-agers are taking over in the adult world of cafes, lock, stock and diapers.

Canadian Paul Anka—who's pushing 19—he creeps up to that milestone on July 30—opened a singing engagement at the Copacabana and was such a smash, that the club wanted to hire him for the next 20 years.

"It's getting to be a strange business," claimed comedian Gary Morton, who was on just ahead of the Tenafly, N.J., terror.

BURIED THE STAR

"Before the show started, I spent 10 minutes burping the star."

"But between shows we lived it up. Had a couple of maltdies."

The Ottawa-born Paul Anka, however, is not an escapee from a baby-sitter, but a composer, publisher and a recording star, a teen-age tycoon—very possibly a genius.

At 15, he swept into New York from Toronto—to huckster the songs he'd written—and was practically kidnapped by a music man to keep him from competitors.

Today, nine or 10 gold records and a swimming pool later, this polite, dapper, scrubbed five-foot-six 135-pound teenager who has already packed them in from Tokyo to Paris, is begged by middle-aged Tin Pan Alleyites to tell them how to sell songs. "I came here expecting to dislike him—but I love him," exclaimed Lu Anne Simms at the Copa.

THREE SHOWS

So great was the crowd—much of it white-jacketed from boys and their gals—that the Copa, for the first time in its history had its star do three shows on opening night.

"I hope I'll sing for you five years from today," Paul Anka

INGRID BERGMAN ... upsets Tony said after a colossal success. "Then I'll be in my 20s and turning grey."

And at the ringside sat singer Frankie Avalon—heavy-lidded and nodding. It was probably that poor little boy's bedtime.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

Reports about Ingrid Bergman expecting a baby have upset Tony Perkins. He's been looking forward to their movie, "Time on Her Hands," in Europe. Susan Hayward's rumored a replacement.

Ex-baseballer Lefty O'Doul, now a San Francisco restaurateur, reportedly turned down a chance to manage the Giants because "I don't have to worry about bringing my restaurant in, first in September."

Design Records signed Boris Karloff and William Bendix—to do kiddie albums. ... Greer Garson may wind up on B'way in a musical, "Tovarich."

Paris reporters cooled toward actress Jean Seberg when she called Maurice Chevalier "a professional Frenchman," but she added "a girl has the right to change her mind."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: The warm weather recalls Sherman's line: "It was so hot I went to visit Grant's Tomb and the door was open." That's earl, brother.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia, and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Alan Adler, age 10, of Philadelphia, Penna., for his question:

Why Don't Worms Suffocate Underground?

Let's use the old imagination and shrink ourselves between the crumbs. To the down to worm size. We would look at the world from a worm's eye view, except that a worm has no eyes. He has special cells in his pink skin which let him know the difference between light and darkness. He can sense shadows and brilliant sunlight—and to him, it is safer to be in the shade. Anyway, let's pretend he can see like we do and look at things down in his world.

In our worm's eye world, the shadow of a golf ball is as big as a house. We now see that the ground, which looked so solid, is made of crumbs of soil. True, in some places the crumbs are tightly packed together to form solid clay. But in the fields and gardens where a worm lives, they are loosely tumbled. Here and there we see fragments of decaying leaves that

Many Use Air In Earth

Countless small earth dwellers use this air in the soil. It is necessary to the roots of plants. Tiny one-celled algae live in the soil in countless numbers. They use the carbon dioxide given out by the worms and other animals. In return, they add oxygen to the ground air. Decay bacteria teem in the soil, always busy breaking down old leaves and waste materials into simple chemicals. They use up oxygen and return carbon dioxide to the ground air. Mr. Pinky breathes oxygen as we do and returns carbon dioxide to the air. In the ground air, there is a constant exchange of these gases. The animals give out carbon dioxide which is used by the plants. The plants give out oxygen, which is used by the animals. This wonderful give-and-take provides Mr. Pinky with all the fresh air he needs. The worm takes in his oxygen through his pink skin, for he has no nose. As he burrows underground, there is always some part of his body near a small pocket of ground air and his burrow, of course, is filled with air. So Mr. Pinky rarely if ever suffocates for want of air in the ground. But he may drown. A heavy rain often fills the holes in the soil and drives out the air. When it fills Mr. Pinky's burrow, he crawls up to the ground where he can get the air he needs.

ARMY OF 2,000 TO MAP 'OUTERMOST' CANADA

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal map makers will blanket Canada this year in a massive survey to get the farthest corners of the country on paper.

Nearly 2,000 men will fan out by plane, truck, boat and foot in the giant program announced Wednesday by the mines and technical surveys department.

Some of the outermost points they will cover include areas around Dawson City near the Yukon-Alaska boundary, Tuktoyaktuk on the shores of the Arctic Ocean and the west coast of the Quech Charlotte Islands off northern British Columbia.

The surveying operations in every province will take 190 engineers and technical officers of the department, 120 student assistants, 170 laborers and the 1,000 men aboard ships and aircraft.

'Axe-Swinging' Garnishees Hit

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Social Credit member of the legislature says he will show Attorney-General Bonner evidence of a widespread practice of garnisheeing a man's wages before he has a chance to explain his position in court.

Don Robinson of Lillooet says some collection agencies are using "axe swinging methods" to collect debts.

Meanwhile, city council Wednesday abandoned a 10-year policy of dismissing employees because of garnishees on their salaries.

It is reported that 12 civic employees have been fired during the last 10 years because of garnishees.

Fred Rowell, a lawyer and chairman of the Vancouver school board, warned employers they may be sued for heavy damages for dismissing an employee who has been garnisheed.

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI)—The Cape Times charged today that the white supremacy policies of the South African government are an "insult" to the dark-skinned people of the nation and the world.

It was the second hard-hitting editorial by the newspaper in as many days.

Wednesday it denounced the government for keeping 1,600 persons in jail for the past three months without charges. Later it was announced 36 of those jailed under emergency regulations would be released.

The Cape Times said it was ridiculous for the government to be making plans for a referendum to decide whether South Africa should become a republic.

It said that since non-whites could not vote, it would mean 750,000 whites would decide whether 14,000,000 citizens would live under a republic or a monarchy.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Looking for a Recipe Box? These May Be Your Answer

By PENNY SAVER

One or two of my readers have been asking me where they can find recipe boxes that are not too expensive and yet would look attractive. This week I came across some that are sure to please even the most fastidious.

Covered boxes are enamel and have old world designs in red, black and gold highlighting the white background. Cheery motifs include an old-fashioned coffee grinder, percolators and teapots. These are very low priced at 59 cents. Packages of 100 lined recipe cards can be bought for 25 cents.

Another attractive kitchen item is the shopping reminder that comes in the shape of an old-fashioned wooden dresser. Back of dresser has a chart containing list of all items found in the average family's shopping list. By each item is a hole in which can be pegged one of the red markers to be found in bottom drawer of dresser. Gay floral designs trim front of drawer. These are selling at $1.19 and there are only a few left. Store manager tells me that she is expecting a new order in any day.

It seems to me that, no matter how many bone china cups and saucers a woman may own, there is always room for a few more—especially if they are as dainty as the ones I've seen this week.

Cups and saucers all carry delicate floral motifs and one particularly striking design has gold and yellow nasturtiums. As for roses—name the color or type—and you're bound to find it in this selection. Tiger lilies, primroses, violets, bluebells and flowers I find difficult to name are all included in this fine collection of cups and saucers. Best of all—they're all selling at the low price of $1 for a cup and saucer.

If you should like to know where Penny shopped today give her a ring at EV 2-3131.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

For Safety's Sake Heed These Swimming Cautions

Since we are right in the middle of the swimming season it is a good time to give you some rules for safety. It is the novice who does not realize the hazards of water. The seasoned swimmer is alert to dangerous possibilities. Many people will lose their lives this summer because they did not heed one or more of the following cautions.

Josephine

1. Never go in swimming alone, no matter how well you swim.

2. Learn how to rescue or assist a person in danger of drowning without endangering yourself. Every swimmer should know this.

3. Do not swim when digestion is at its height.

4. The best time to swim is during the last two hours of the morning and the last two in the afternoon. Low temperatures during the early morning and late evening can cause cramps.

5. Whenever possible swim where there is a lifeguard.

6. Know your ability and endurance. Do not swim far out from shore and then find you are too tired to get back.

7. You should have knowledge of the bathing area in which you are going to swim. It is important to know the depth of the water and the bottom conditions.

8. Never throw someone into the water as a joke, not even if he or she is a good swimmer.

9. Don't stay in the water too long. Heed indications such as chills, cramping and blue lips. Come out even if you are having fun.

10. Remember that the area around a pool is often very slick.

Swimming is such wonderful exercise and it can be enjoyed by many people who cannot indulge in more strenuous sports. All children should learn to swim because of the fun and health factors it provides and also for their own safety.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Learn to Swim" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 22 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Wouldn't Trade Even for Degree

HAMILTON (CP) — Thirteen years ago Suzanne McDowell came to McMaster University to study for her Master's degree. She took over management of the university's book store on a part-time basis.

She never did get her degree, having become so interested in the job that she took it on full time.

"I don't think any girl in Canada could have a more interesting career than this one," she says.

Shelagh Privett Wed in Ottawa

A wedding of interest in Victoria took place in St. John's Church, Ottawa, recently, when Shelagh Molly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Privett of "Robinwood," Ardmore Drive, Sidney, became the bride of Arnold Leslie Aiken, Montreal, son of W. A. Aiken of New Westminster. Rev. J. Robinson conducted the morning service.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride wore a ballerina-length gown, made by herself, of white brocade fashioned on princess lines. Her short veil was held by a band of brocade and she carried a bouquet of garnet red roses and white stephanotis.

As only attendant, Miss Lois MacIntosh, Ottawa, wore a gown in beige-toned lace with small hat in tone. She carried pink carnations and stephanotis. A. Bedal was best man.

The home of Admiral A. Wright and Mrs. Wright in Rockcliffe, Ottawa, was setting for the reception. Bride's mother received guests wearing a silk printed floral dress in blue and white and a chapeau of blue lace and tulle veiling. Her accessories were in white and she had a corsage of gardenias.

Vases of peonies, delphiniums and Sweet Williams decorated the rooms. Newlyweds cut a wedding cake which was topped with red sweet peas. Capt. M. H. Ellis, RCN, former headmaster of Brentwood College, proposed the toast.

A two-piece jacket dress in pale blue and yellow silk was worn by the new Mrs. Aiken for her going-away ensemble. She completed the outfit with a white flowered hat and corsage of small yellow roses.

The couple will make their home at 11930 Rue Michel, Sarrazin, Montreal.

DEAR ABBY

His Middle Name Is Nerve!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 19 and last year I fell in love with a wonderful person. We met in the public library. We seemed to click immediately. He met my parents but I never met his as he was from out of town.

He gave me an engagement ring, but every time I mentioned our future plans he would clam up. My father did some checking and found out my "fiance" was married. When I told him what I knew, he admitted it. He said he tried to tell me several times, but he didn't have the nerve. He said they had no children and he was trying to get a divorce. I told him I never wanted to see him again. He keeps calling me at work and begging me to see him. I am heartsick over this, Abby, because I still care for him. Should I see him?

REDEYED. If there is anything this fellow is not short on—it's NERVE. It takes nerve for a married man to court a girl. It took colossal nerve to give you an "engagement" ring. And when you told him you were through, he summoned up the nerve to call you and beg you to change your mind. Don't see him. He has obligations (unfulfilled) elsewhere.

DEAR ABBY: About 20 years ago I heard a sermon in which the preacher quoted something from the Bible proving that in biblical times men used to help their wives with the dishes. Do you know where I can find such a passage? My husband says I must have dreamed it.

ROSE. DEAR ROSE: You are possibly referring to II Kings, 21:13: "...and I will wipe Jerusalem as a man wipes a dish, wiping it, and turning it upside down."

DEAR ABBY: I am getting the reputation for being the "meanest mother on the block" because I don't allow my 11-year-old son to stay up and watch horror movies on TV. His two playmates can watch those programs. My child is ridiculed because of it, and so am I. How do other mothers handle this problem, Abby?

MEANEST MOTHER.

DEAR MOTHER: You are responsible for raising your own son, not the neighborhood—so don't be influenced by what the "other kids" can do. When youngsters boast that they have "permission" investigation usually reveals that they simply are not supervised. My hat is off to you, Mother.

If you want a personal reply from Abby, write to her in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. She answers ALL letters.

Smell of Ripening Hay Brings the Summertime

By Elizabeth Forbes

First really hot day and you'll hear most people say "Summer is here!"

With a few, however, it's not the first hot day that makes it a summer.

It's the smell of yellow hay, ripening in the fields.

Right now, if you drive out the Patricia Bay Highway, or, if you happen to be on any one of a dozen side roads leading off into the valleys, you'll suddenly find yourself inhaling that sweet warm scent that has no counterpart.

The hay is golden brown now and, in many cases, is baled and almost ready to be stacked.

For me, the smell of this hay brings back memories of childhood vacations spent on my grandfather's farm in the Okanagan Valley.

I often followed the men into the fields when the alfalfa was ready for the barns, and I'd spend the day, "helping," with a special fork my grandfather had given me.

Over and over again, the hay rack would be piled high with the fragrant alfalfa. Each time I'd be hoisted up to the top and the driver would climb up beside me.

He'd speak softly to the horses and away we'd go, up the grassy lane to the barn.

Gradually, as we moved along, I'd sink deep into the pile of hay and soon I'd be lying back, my eyes on the blue sky and on the fluffy clouds that floated overhead.

Intoxicated a bit with the sweet-scented alfalfa, I'd dream dreams and build castles in the air.

Yes, indeed, it's summer when the hay is ready for harvest!

Does History Repeat Itself?

In my mail the other day was a clipping taken, so my correspondent said, from a church folder. "It proves," the letter suggested, "that history does repeat itself."

Clipping was a quote from Gibbon's "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire," written in 1787. Here is the way he accounted for the fall of the empire.

1. "The rapid increase of divorce; the undermining of the dignity and sanctity of the home, which is the basis of human society."

2. "Higher and higher taxes and the spending of public monies for free bread and circuses for the populace."

3. "The mad craze for pleasure; sports becoming every year more exciting and more brutal."

4. "The building of gigantic armaments when the real enemy is within, in the decadence of the people."

5. "The decay of religion—faith fading into mere form, losing touch with life and becoming impotent to warn and guide the people."

Garden furniture takes on a new lease of life with a fresh coat of paint. Work in the shade, and if indoors in shed or garage spread newspapers to catch paint drippings. Bright colors look best against the green of grass and trees.

Sidney Church Garden Party Makes $700

More than $700 was realized at annual garden party of St. Andrew's Anglican Church, Sidney, held Wednesday afternoon, on a cool, tree-shaded slope in the grounds at the Experimental Farm.

Canon Vaughan-Birch and Mrs. Vaughan-Birch, with Rev. C. F. Orman and Mrs. Orman, welcomed the many guests. General convener was Mrs. D. Mitchell.

UNDER THE TREES

Afternoon tea was served at small tables under the trees. Food was supplied by the Altar Guild of the church and served by members of the Evening Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary, assisted by junior and girls' auxiliaries.

Home-cooking stall was convened by Afternoon Branches of the WA in St. Andrew's and St. Augustine's; a white elephant table at which a huge papier mache elephant, made by George Leaf, stood guard, by Messrs. Lunn, R. Adamson and G. Owen.

Flowers donated by the farm were sold by Col. and Mrs. D. Mitchell and costume jewelry by Mrs. M. Gray, Mrs. R. Stuart and Mrs. Wyndham Bruce. At the gate was Mr. F. J. Baker.

Heirloom Bracelet Worn by Comox Bride

As "something old," bride Miss Anne Gail Grant wore a pearl set gold bracelet of forget-me-nots with amethyst centre that belonged to her grandmother 50 years ago, at her wedding in Comox United Church. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Grant of Comox became the bride of Melvin Leroy Marshall, youngest son of C. H. Marshall, Langford, and the late Mrs. Marshall. Rev. M. Henderson officiated.

A gown of Italian lace-over-satin was worn by the bride. A pearl and sequin tiara held her elbow-length veil and her jewelry was Alaska black diamonds. She carried a crescent bouquet of red roses.

BLUE DRESSES

Identical gowns of blue silk organza were worn by attendants, Mrs. D. Matthews, Miss Karen Grant, Miss Lynne Harrison and Miss Linda Matthews. Copper-toned roses were in their crescent bouquets.

Best man was James E. Marshall and ushers were Gordon Grant and Ronald Marra.

Yellow, white and blue flowers decorated Knights of Pythias hall at Comox for the reception. Capt. Alex Brackett, Gordon Harrison was master of ceremonies.

A red and white dotted sheath style dress was choice of the new Mrs. Marshall for her going-away outfit. Her hat was in matching shades. She completed the ensemble with a red duster coat and corsage of white orchids.

After a honeymoon in the interior of the province newlyweds will make their home in Victoria.

Former Victorian Ian Kingham Takes Bride in Ottawa, Ill.

Christ Episcopal Church, Ottawa, Ill., was setting for a wedding of wide interest recently when Edith Lucille, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McKinley Mabry of Pontiac, Ill., became the bride of Rowland Ian Kingham, elder son of Col. J. R. Kingham and Mrs. Kingham of Upper Terrace, Victoria. Rev. Charles Boswell officiated at the ceremony in a church decorated with large baskets of white chrysanthemums, gladioli and carnations. Jay Lovins, Sheridan, Ill., played traditional organ selections.

The attractive dark-haired bride entered the church on the arm of her father for the afternoon wedding. Her gown of imported Chantilly lace on slipper satin was fashioned with a fitted bodice highlighted by a sequin and seed pearl-trimmed bateau neckline and long tapering sleeves. A princess line front panel extended down the full-length bouffant skirt from a waistline tied with a wide satin obi sash. Skirt was en train. A white German tiara held her fingertip veil.

TWO ATTENDANTS

Sorority sister of the bride, Miss Mavis Williamson, and Miss Myrtle Mabry were attendants. They wore silk-organza gowns in orchid shade, fashioned with lace inserted fitted bodices, and bouffant skirts. Their hats were en tone and they carried yellow carnations.

Brother of the groom, Bruce Kingham, Victoria, was best man. Gerald Wrong, Robert Haman, Ivan Viest and Fred Finn ushered.

Receiving guests at a reception in the parish hall, mother of the bride wore a navy blue lace dress with matching accessories and corsage of Astoria lilies. A mist green silk satin sheath-style dress was worn by the groom's mother. Her accessories were in beige tone and her corsage a cymbidium orchid.

A four-tier cake was cut by the newlyweds. It centred the bridal table which was decorated with white and yellow flowers.

It is 20 years since his last visit here.

to northern Michigan, the new Mrs. Kingham wore a white knitted sheath-style dress with bone accessories and a corsage of Astoria lilies. Couple will make their home in Ottawa, Ill.

Round the World

dried siding is the finest available — a quality material for all applications where perfection is

THE LUMBER
Western red cedar lumber is noted for its exceptional durability, light weight and beautiful color, ranging from almost pure white to reddish brown heartwood.
It is very easily worked
and holds stains, paints
and enamels excellently,
and is superior for glue-
ing. Because of these qualities, Western red cedar is especially adaptable for use as bevel siding for quality homes.

DURABILITY
Western red cedar is one of the most durable species known. Its heart-wood is highly resistant to decay, and can be counted on for long and worthy service where conditions favoring decay prevail.

WEATHERING
paint or other protective finishes, Western red cedar weathers to an intriguing grey color having little or no sheen.
It is one of the most stable species of lumber, having very little tendency to cup and pull loose from fastenings when exposed to the weather.

INSULATING QUALITIES
Western red cedar has the highest insulating value of all commonly-used soft woods — another point in its favor
as siding, and of particular importance when used as roof decking.

tional durability, light
weight and beautiful color, ranging from almost pure white to reddish brown heartwood.
It is very easily worked
and holds stains, paints
and enamels excellently,
and is superior for glue-
ing. Because of these qualities, Western red cedar is especially adaptable for use as bevel siding for quality homes.

DURABILITY
Western red cedar is one of the most durable species known. Its heart-wood is highly resistant
to decay, and can be counted on for long and worthy service where conditions favoring decay prevail.

WEATHERING
paint or other protective finishes, Western red cedar weathers to an intriguing grey color having little or no sheen.
It is one of the most
stable species of lumber, having very little tendency to cup and pull loose from fastenings when exposed to the weather.

INSULATING QUALITIES
Western red cedar has the highest insulating value of all commonly-used soft woods — another point in its favor
as siding, and of particular importance when used as roof decking.

$400,000
Esquimalt
Arena Vote
In August

Esquimalt ratepayers will be asked to approve a $400,000 bylaw, probably in August, for construction of an arena adjoining Bullen Park.

Reeve A. C. Wurtele said Wednesday council had decided to hold a vote but the date had not yet been fixed. He said full information about the project would be given ratepayers before the vote.

The proposed arena would be named Esquimalt Municipal Sports Centre. It would have a skating surface, curling rink and facilities for conversion to an auditorium for fairs, dances and summer sports.

EQUIPMENT

Cost of the building is estimated at $300,000. Land and equipment will add $100,000.

Council is seeking help of department of municipal affairs officials in the wording of the bylaw. Terms and interest rates on the bonds are still to be decided.

A date for the vote will be set as soon as the final draft of the bylaw is completed.

'Draft Rockefeller' Move Grows

ROCKEFELLER
... extolled in ads

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A nationwide movement to draft New York Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller for the Republican presidential nomination got under way today with half-page ads in metropolitan newspapers.

The movement was announced Wednesday by William M. Brinton, San Francisco attorney and national chairman.

Brinton said he is absolutely confident the movement will give Rockefeller a majority of delegate support at the Republican national convention opening July 25 in Chicago.

"We have enough money to spend on the things we consider useful," said Brinton. "Not a cent of it is Rockefeller money."

'GOVERNMENT PRESSURE'—TURNER

'Stand Up for Rights Or Resign,' PUC Told

By FRANK RUTTER

The Public Utilities Commission should stand up for its rights to control affairs of the Pacific Northern Railway—or resign, deputy CCF leader Arthur Turner said today.

Mr. Turner was commenting on a statement Wednesday by the PUC outlining its reasons for not having held a public hearing into PNR plans.

The statement—carried fully in Wednesday's Times—was being interpreted unofficially today as first allowing the PUC out of a tough political tangle, but second opening the way for future PUC action.

This action would be after a complaint from an "interested party" against construction starting before the PUC had issued a certificate of convenience.

Two interested parties involved might be the city of Prince Rupert which has already protested the PNR's route, or opposition leader Robert Strachan, currently on holiday in the Cariboo.

The commission should make a formal and public protest at the action of the government, said Mr. Turner, "and if the government fails to carry out the terms of the act, then the commission should tender its resignation."

The PUC statement said the railway was considered a public utility by its legal advisers.

The railway says, on the other hand, its advisers do not consider it comes under the PUC at this stage.

Premier Bennett was quoted earlier this year as saying that there would be public hearings on the railway. He since has said that construction started under terms of the Railway Act.

Mr. Turner said today a PUC certificate of convenience is required by a railway under the Public Utilities Act.

'Guardian, Watchdog of People'

In the case of the PNR, "their application must include all relevant information to prove their right to get started."

"It has been reported that because the company has no physical assets as a railway, the PUC has no jurisdiction under the act."

"If the PUC is avoiding its responsibility and the government on its side is flouting the law, then the PUC has lost its function as a guardian and watchdog of the people's welfare."

Mr. Turner added: "There has been government pressure. There is no doubt of that."

The PNR was able to live up to an agreement between Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Co. and the province by starting construction of three miles before June 30 after cabinet approval under the Railway Act.

Conservative leader Deane Finlayson today was in Ottawa. Other officials of the party in B.C. said they needed time to study the PUC statement.

Liberal leader Ray Perrault said he, too, would have to consult railway experts.

"It seems to open the way to those opposed to make a complaint," he said.

Victoria Liberal George Gregory said he approved the PUC statement.

But he rapped the railway for first seeking a PUC certificate, then backing down—but still going ahead with what it claimed was "construction."

KIDNAPPED

Lottery Winner Loses Son

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI) — The eight-year-old son of a traveling salesman, who won a quarter of a million dollars in a lottery was kidnapped on his way to school today.

Two hours later his mother received a telephoned demand for $56,000 ransom.

The disappearance of Frederick Hilton Thorne triggered one of the biggest police hunts in Australia's history. Australians were shocked by what appeared to be the first known instance of the kidnapping of a child for money here.

Frederick's father, Basil Thorne, 37, won the $224,000 first prize in the Sydney Opera House lottery last month.

The boy left home as usual at 8 o'clock this morning, wearing his grey school uniform and carrying his lunch and books under his arm.

USUALLY PUNCTUAL

When the usually punctual boy failed to show up on time, Mrs. Smith went to the Thorne apartment to inquire. A quick telephone check disclosed he had not gone on to school alone.

At 9 o'clock, Mrs. Thorne alerted police.

An hour later, Mrs. Thorne received a telephone call from a man who, she said, spoke in a guttural voice. She said he demanded 25,000 Australian pounds for the return of her son.

Mrs. Thorne fainted and slumped to the floor.

Every available plainclothesman and patrolman were thrown into an ever-widening search of the city while an alarm was flashed throughout the country.

Hostility Policy

Eisenhower said the government of Prime Minister Fidel Castro "has embarked upon a deliberate policy of hostility toward the United States."

This made Cuba an unreliable supplier of a major food product especially with Cuba committing "increasing amounts of its sugar crop to trade with the Communist world."

New moves under consideration at the state department include:

1. A request to other Latin American countries for concerted action against Castro, perhaps through a meeting of foreign ministers of the Organization of American States.

2. A further slash in future Cuban sugar sales to the United States under authority already given the president by Congress for the first three months of 1961.

3. New congressional action on the sugar quota allocation which could have the effect of permanently reducing Cuba's position in the U.S. sugar market.

The United States has been talking about half of Cuba's 6,000,000-ton annual sugar crop. The imports from Cuba have amounted to about one-third of United States' sugar requirement. Cuba, like other foreign sugar suppliers, has been selling to the U.S. at domestic rather than world prices which means a subsidy of about 2½ cents a pound.

THREE DIE IN HAIL OF GUNFIRE

REGGIO EMILIA, Italy (Reuters) — At least three persons were killed and many injured in fierce clashes between police and left-wing demonstrators in this northern industrial city today.

At one point, police opened fire with machine-guns on the demonstrators, who returned the fire with pistols and other weapons.

Strikes Ordered In Cities

ROME (AP) — Italy's rioting leftist leadership today threatened to plunge the nation into civil war.

The threat came as police in this ancient capital braced for more 'leftist' vs. Fascist trouble after a night of rioting in the streets and fist fights in Parliament.

In the worst week of disorders since early post-war days, nearly 500 demonstrators have been injured in fighting from Genoa to Sicily. More than 200 police have been hurt—135 of them in Rome Wednesday night.

Senator Emilio Lussu, a pro-Communist Socialist leader, told a tumultuous senate session that if Premier Fernando Tambroni's Christian Democratic government does not resign it will turn into "a government of civil war."

STRIKES SPREAD

A wave of general strikes called by left-wing leaders began to hit every major city.

Rome was under a general strike from 1 p.m. until midnight, called by the Chamber of Labor protesting police action against the rioters.

A half dozen other major cities were similarly affected. More strikes were called in others by the Red-controlled Italian Federation of Labor. The non-Communist unions labelled the strikes political and refused to join them.

Rome looked like an armed camp.

The government's national security forces showed they meant business Wednesday night when 1,000 steel-helmeted riot police charged on foot, on horseback and in jeeps to break up approximately 2,000 Communist-led demonstrators.

The demonstrators started in a predominantly workers' district. A police ban failed to stop the demonstrators, although the Socialists officially pulled out of the rally.

When Leftists tried to march into the sealed-off square at St. Paul's Gate, police sent streams of water from hoses on riot trucks into the crowds. The demonstrators responded by throwing stones at police.

'PAINTERS' CLEAN UP

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Three gunmen dressed as house painters seized an estimated $60,000 today in a hold-up at the Cherokee State Bank. They waited calmly for more than an hour for the time lock to go off, turning a gun on each employee who entered the building. Then they looted the vault, teller's boxes and night depository.

U.S. Raps K's 'Slander'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States denounced today what it called Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's "slandering attacks" on the U.S. during his present visit to Austria. At the same time, the state department protested the Austrian government's "failure ... to disassociate itself from these attacks."

Two Korea Policemen Get Death Penalty

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — The Seoul district court today sentenced two former national policemen to death for shooting at student demonstrators during the uprising that overthrew Syngman Rhee's regime.

The two defendants, Chung Wan-joung and Kwon Hiyong, were the first members of Rhee's police force convicted of indiscriminate shooting against the demonstrators in April.

Both were charged with murder and attempted murder. A government prosecutor at the opening of the trial June 24 had demanded the death penalty for Chung and life imprisonment for Kwon.

Under South Korean law the death sentence is automatically subject to review by a higher court.

The two defendants pleaded not guilty to the charges. But Yoo Chai-hi upheld the prosecution's accusation that the two had fired upon unarmed demonstrators including one young high school student who had already been wounded and was seeking medical treatment.

Three former policemen went on trial on similar charges today.

Americans Prepare to Flee As Cuba Situation Worsens

HAVANA, Cuba (UPI) — A growing number of Americans are being stepped up, with private companies getting their employees and families out of the country—even though the U.S. Embassy is not urging Americans to leave.

In an angry post-midnight two-hour speech before the closing session of the Metal Workers Union Congress, Castro said Wednesday night the United States slashed the Cuban sugar quota in a "frenzy of hate."

This was his first public reaction to President Eisenhower's action in cutting the sugar

quota. Castro declared that the "real fight" is just starting with the United States. He charged that Washington was trying to run Cuba and ruin its economy.

But Castro surprised some observers by failing to announce specific reprisals for the sugar cut in his speech.

It was believed now that he may purposely wait until a scheduled television address Friday night.

Or he may even wait to drop the other shoe and decree American sugar mills and perhaps other property nationalized when he appears before a monster protest rally called by the Cuban Workers Federation for Sunday afternoon.

TURMOIL MOUNTS IN CONGO

LEOPOLDVILLE, Congo Republic (Reuters) — Fresh violence struck this week-old republic today on the heels of an army mutiny.

Police revolted against their own officers, prisoners broke out of their cells and demanded amnesties and dock workers roughed up their white employers.

In most outbreaks, the demonstrators were demanding higher wages and replacement of Belgian administrators by Africans.

At Thysville, where Camp Hardy troops mutinied Wednesday, the situation turned critical. The police revolted against their own officers and the local governor appealed to Leopoldville for help in evacuating all white women and children in the town, 80 miles from here.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Almighty God, use us this day as instruments of Thy peace, as channels of Thy love. Set us free from the bondage of self-will and ungodly desires. Give us wise and understanding hearts, fervent and faithful spirits, and a longing for whatsoever is true and good and lovely. So may we dwell in the light of Thy nearer presence, this day and forevermore; through Christ. Amen.

MRA Under Attack As 'Fascist Front'

(From Times News Service)

OTTAWA—The CCF's H. W. Herridge caused a stir in the Commons Wednesday night when he bitterly attacked the Moral Re-Armament movement, implying it is a fascist front.

The MP for Kootenay West said his party takes vigorous exception to the government's policy of allowing income tax exemptions on contributions to the movement, and demanded that it be reviewed.

He said leaders of various CCF and trade union groups across Canada, as well as a good number of other individuals, had expressed to him their "increasing concern" about the exemptions.

Mr. Herridge was immediately taken to task by a series of Liberal and Conservative MPs, who characterized MRA as a worthy movement whose only objective is the spiritual uplift of mankind.

'Enemy of Peace and Tolerance'

Mr. Herridge placed on the record excerpts from critical letters he had received, as well as the text of a resolution passed by the CCF provincial convention in Alberta, denouncing MRA as the enemy of "peace, tolerance and a just social order."

One letter, from the United Auto Workers' political action department in Toronto, cited a story in the New York World Telegram during the 1930s concerning MRA leader Frank Buchman.

The story quoted Mr. Buchman as saying, according to the UAW letter: "I thank heaven for a man like Adolph Hitler. Through such a man God could control a nation overnight and solve every last bewildering problem. Social problems could be solved through a God-controlled Fascist dictatorship."

Wallace Nesbitt, parliamentary secretary to External Affairs Minister Green, said he was astonished at Mr. Herridge's "vitriolic" attack.

Mr. Carter, outlining the purposes of the MRA, said: "It is not a church and does not profess to be a religion, but it does heal mistrust, hates

One of them, Chesley W. Carter, (L-Burin-Burgeo), said Mr. Herridge's attack was in line with seven or eight attacks on MRA which he said have appeared in the "communist" Canadian Tribune.

"When the Communists find it necessary to attack something, I think it behooves the rest of the people of Canada to sit up and take notice," said Mr. Carter, an MRA disciple.

Mr. Herridge said he had been informed that a recent spate of advertising by the Moral Re-Armament movement in Canadian newspapers cost about $400,000. People had written him expressing "great doubt as to the real purposes" of the organization.

Walter Dinsdale, parliamentary secretary for veteran affairs, said his impression from long acquaintance with the MRA was that it strived to encourage and stimulate religious life among the young people of Canada and the Western world.

Revenue Minister Nowlan said Mr. Herridge had introduced an extraneous issue into the estimates debate. He said the decision that MRA should be regarded as a charitable organization for purposes of tax exemptions was taken some years ago by a Liberal government. He saw no reason to reverse the decision.

Mervyn Hardie (L. Mackenzie River) complained that the RCMP in the north are being relegated to "office typewriter boys" by "encroachment" on their duties by northern service officers of the northern affairs department.

"Put the RCMP back to work in the north," the Northwest Territories MP said in arguing that the RCMP had always done an effective job.

'NO ONE LISTENS TO ME'

Rebel Tory to Quit

OTTAWA (CP)—Charles Van Horne, self-styled "dissatisfied Tory" from northern New Brunswick, plans to resign his Commons seat.

Although the resignation date still is in doubt, he said Wednesday he's definitely going to quit. And apparently he will be leaving under his own steam, rather than because of any pressure from the Conservative caucus he has flouted.

The caucus met Wednesday amid reports that the 39-year-old MP for Restigouche-Madawaska might have his status questioned following his open support of the winning Liberal party in last week's New Brunswick election.

That wasn't the sort of conduct that promotes party solidarity. But party sources said Wednesday the question was not raised at the caucus.

VAN HORNE

meeting. Mr. Van Horne wasn't there, anyway, which isn't unusual for him.

"I go once in a while for a half-hour or so," he told reporters later. "But I don't like talking when no one listens to me."

He said former Conservative premier Hugh John Flemming lost the New Brunswick election because he wouldn't listen to advice, and added: "I have told Prime Minister Diefenbaker that if he doesn't listen to advice, he is headed in the same way."

Despite his attacks on the government, he insists he still is a capital-C Conservative. Mr. Van Horne said in a recent interview:

'LIKE A SAGGING BANANA'

Sleeping Crew Trapped When Big Blimp Crashed

LAKEHURST, N.J. (AP)—A huge $12,000,000 airship used for radar patrol crumpled in air on a search mission Wednesday and crashed "like a sagging banana" into the Atlantic.

One airman was killed and 17 are feared lost in the sunken wreckage.

Three men survived. The navy said it was mystified as to the cause of the disaster.

University Contract Due

Contract for construction of the first building under the University of Victoria's current expansion program will be let Monday.

It will be picked from tenders by seven companies which were opened Wednesday.

A $329,423 bid by Farmer Construction Ltd. was the lowest tender.

The building will consist of 11 classrooms, two faculty rooms, 35 offices and a book store.

helium line may have ruptured, causing the blimp to collapse. The Doris May III reached the scene three minutes after the 403-foot blimp fell limply into the water.

Frank Mikuletzky, 19, a mate aboard the fishing vessel, jumped overboard with a life ring and pulled survivors from the floating wreckage.

The blimp had been out on a search patrol for the 40-foot sloop Vat 69.

Ironically, the yacht was found safe by a navy submarine at almost the same moment the huge blimp radioed the distress call "May Day, May Day."

Those were the only words heard from the blimp. One of the survivors, Joseph Culligan, 20, said he had been sleeping and woke to find the gondola filling with water.

U-2 Landing Denied

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP)—The transport ministry Wednesday denied a report that an American U-2 plane made a forced landing at Khartoum airport Saturday. The report had been circulated by Cairo's Middle East news agency.

Japan Puts Free Quotas On Hardwood

OTTAWA (CP)—Japan has placed voluntary quotas on 1960 exports of hardwood plywood to Canada. Finance Minister Fleming said today in the Commons.

He said he received a letter Wednesday from the Japanese ambassador to this effect. He did not give the amount of the quotas.

The minister said negotiations are continuing with Japan on prospective Japanese quotas on a number of other commodities where shipments to Canada exceeded "an orderly growth of trade."

Some two months ago, Japan placed voluntary quotas on textile exports to Canada.

Honor Bevan Memory

In memory of British labor leader Aneurin Bevan, who died Wednesday, Victoria Labor Council delegates observed one minute's silence at their Wednesday meeting.

IWA delegate Ed Haw termed him "a lifelong fighter in the cause of the working class."

Air Force 'Sits' On Earhart Clues

TOKYO (AP)—The United States 5th Air Force today described as "incomplete and inconclusive" information which two air force officers contend proves the Japanese executed Amelia Earhart and her navigator on Saipan in 1937.

A spokesman said the data assembled by Capt. Joseph Gervais and Robert Dinger is being withheld from publication for the moment because it is awaiting evaluation.

Gervais and Dinger told a press conference today that neither had actually visited Saipan but that Gervais had assembled most of their evidence during a recent private trip to Guam, 100 miles from Saipan.

The two officers insisted Gervais' findings prove that the famed aviator and navigator, Fred Noon, were executed as spies and buried on Saipan. More "new evidence" that

Miss Earhart's plane crashed into Saipan Bay was reported, meanwhile, in Santa Ana, Calif. Pilot Paul Mantz, air service operator who outfitted the flyer's plane for the round-the-world flight, "positively" identified a coral-encrusted generator found on the bottom of the bay as identical to one he ordered for the missing aircraft.

Whopping Double

CHICAGO (AP)—The daily double at Arlington Park Wednesday paid $1,004.40 for a $2 bet when Dude Ship ($36.20) won the first race, and Desna ($54.20) took the second.

NEW 1960 GENERAL ELECTRIC RANGE

BRINGS OUTDOOR BARBECUING INSIDE

NOW CANADA'S EASIEST-TO-OPERATE RANGE HAS A COMPLETELY AUTOMATIC ROTISSERIE

The wonderful new General Electric Automatic Rotisserie-Range brings all the fun of the outdoor barbecue indoors — and it's not a fraction of the work. Even the most exotic barbecue meals are nothing more than a recipe, and a flick of a switch.

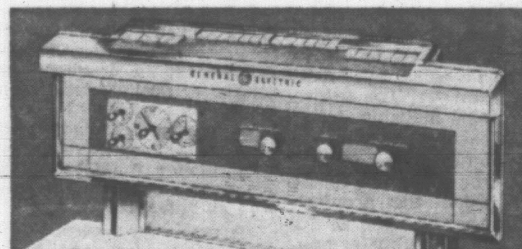

Just-right oven cooking is a certainty with the new G-E "Dinner Dial". The top elements too, have automatic heat selection from simmer to high. The "Sensi-Temp" system maintains constant temperatures; foods cannot catch, pots never boil over.

There are so many exciting features that will make you want this smart new range for your very own, and you'll be proud of its elegant Straight-Line design. See it today at your local G-E Dealer's.

You just dial your cooking with the 1960 G-E Range — G-E's exclusive new "Dinner Dial" sets the oven for each kind of oven cooking — Bake, Time Bake, Rotisserie or Broil — and it automatically keeps the heat even and exactly right during cooking. The Oven-Timer Dial turns the oven on and off at set times; the Minute-timer signals cooking intervals from one to sixty minutes. They're all so fool-proof and easy. Cleaning the Control Panel is easy too. Just pull off all the knobs and wipe the uncluttered glass front clean in a jiffy.

New automatic rotisserie brings fun and versatility to cooking... Finer roasts, barbecued chicken, shish-kebab — there's no end to the exciting cooking you can do with the new completely automatic G-E Rotisserie. Meats roast as they turn round and round, come out sizzlingly perfect — with juices locked in. This exciting new feature is so easy to operate. Just turn the "Dinner Dial" to Rotisserie — that's all there is to it. It's simple, clean too — the rotisserie slides smoothly out with a touch of a finger.

Removable oven door makes cleaning easier... This glamorous new range has an added attraction for the busy home-maker — easy-reach cleaning. All you have to do is open the oven door, lift it slightly, and it slides out (and back again) like a charm. The broil unit, rotisserie and shelves lift out, and the bake unit lifts up. It couldn't be easier to reach in and clean every corner of the oven.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

About $30 in silver coins was stolen by someone who "shouldered" their way into a Bay Street apartment sometime Wednesday.

The woman occupant of apartment 4, 440 Bay, reported the theft at 12.02 a.m. today and detectives found entry had been gained by forcing the door by throwing weight against it.

Members of the Air Force Officers' Association of Vancouver Island will visit the RCAF station at Comox Saturday for Air Force Day on invitation of the commanding officer, G/C R. F. Miller.

Gary Adams Holt, Sidney, was remanded for a week in custody after pleading guilty in Colwood RCMP court Wednesday to charges of hit-run, driving while suspended and failing to transfer a vehicle registration.

Magistrate A. I. Thomas remanded him for a probation report and sentence next Wednesday.

Forty-five late enrolments have pushed registration at the University of Victoria summer school to a record 695 students—up 20 per cent from the 580 enrolled last year. The summer session ends Aug. 12.

A mid-year accounting shows the pace of advance tax paying by city ratepayers is only .86 per cent down from last year.

It was a marked improvement of the more than 1.5 per cent drop earlier this year which had officials worried of an unexpected cut in budgeted revenues. Unemployment and a slowdown of business was blamed for the reduced willingness of ratepayers to pay taxes early in order to collect a discount.

Head injuries were suffered by Vancouver motorist Louie Meong, Wednesday, when his car overturned on Patricia Bay highway.

Police said Meong was going south between Mount Newton and Telegraph Roads at 1.15 p.m. when for "no apparent reason" his car went off the road and overturned.

Meong was X-rayed at Jubilee Hospital, where his condition is satisfactory.

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

Sussexvale, Ste. Therese, Stettler, Antigonish, Beacon Hill, New Glasgow, Jonker, return 3 p.m., Aug. 5.

James Bay, Cowichan, Fortune, Miramichi, return 8.30 a.m. Friday.

Fraser returns 4 p.m. Saturday.

Margate returns 2 p.m. July 13.

U.S. Coast Guard cutter Taney at HMC Dockyard, leaves 11 a.m. Friday.

Two charges of driving while under suspension brought a heavy fine and 14-day jail term to John E. Jones, 610 Pine, when he pleaded guilty in city police court today.

He was fined $100 for the offence on June 29, and sent to jail for the second offence, which took place a week later.

Jones told the court he had been driving consistently since his licence was suspended for lack of financial responsibility last year.

"If this contemptuous attitude continues, I warn you will be severely dealt with," Magistrate William Ostler said.

Nine homeowners on the east side of the 3100 block Shelbourne have petitioned city council to go carefully before approving the proposed $10,000,000 Hillside Shopping Plaza development across the street.

The homeowners, lead by T. H. Cressy, 3149 Shelbourne, said many of them "have lived and owned their houses for a period over 10 years when it was a nice residential area."

"Now commercial areas have completely engulfed us and have lowered the value of our property."

MOST POPULAR PLACE naturally, was the dining car of the train that carried 166 Greater Victoria teen-agers and their healthy appetites across the continent on the first lap of a seven-week European tour. Photo shows small part of group enjoying a snack during trip to Montreal this week.

FOURTH CASE OF POLIO RECORDED

Greater Victoria's fourth case of polio admitted to Jubilee Hospital this year is 35-year-old Donald Cole, 130 Beach, who is doing well, with no sign of paralysis.

Medical superintendent Dr. Murray Anderson said the case is a typical one, caught in an early stage.

Cole, admitted early this week, is the eighth person to contract the disease on Vancouver Island since the start of 1960.

Prisoner Collapses When Jailed

An 18-month jail term was given Robert Francis Millette, 916 Kings, and he promptly collapsed between prisoner's box and the door to jail in city police court today.

Millette, given 18 months on a first charge of obtaining goods by false pretences and a concurrent sentence of six months for getting a small sum of cash with a worthless cheque, was assisted back to the lockup by court officers and a police witness after he slumped into one officer's arms.

The offences, both involving worthless cheques, took place last August, soon after Millette was released from a previous jail term.

Magistrate William Ostler said, according to a probation report, Millette's record was "bad, almost all the same type of offences."

Counsel Alan Bigelow made a plea for leniency on behalf of Millette's wife, who recently lost one child by carbon monoxide poisoning and expects another soon.

"I have sympathy for your wife," the magistrate said, "particularly because she is saddled with you, but I cannot condone this act."

Impaired Driver Fined

Sarban Singh Manhas, 741 Goldstream, was fined $200 and $650 costs in Colwood RCMP court Wednesday on a charge of impaired driving.

B.C. Government Asked to Aid Foundation for Needy Writers

Needy writers in British Columbia have received grants totalling $30,000 from the Canadian Writers' Foundation since it was incorporated in 1945. Mrs. Theresa Thomson, executive secretary-treasurer of the foundation in Ottawa said here today.

In the same period needy writers all over Canada have received grants exceeding $100,000.

"Writers are an important part of our human resources since they are in effect the voice of Canada," Mrs. Thomson told 175 delegates attending the annual convention of the Canadian Authors' Association in the Crystal Garden. Immediately after her address, Mrs. Thomson called on Deputy Provincial Secretary L. J. Wallace seeking a yearly grant from the B.C. government.

She revealed that two provincial governments, those of Ontario and Quebec, are now contributing annually to the foundation.

YEARLY GRANT

The federal government, through the Canada Council, makes a yearly grant of $6,000.

Mrs. Thomson emphasized that only writers of established ability are entitled to assistance, but there might be some "elasticity" in cases of extreme hardship.

"It is possible for even the most distinguished writers to fall on hard times through no fault of their own—and the list of beneficiaries grows longer each year."

Mrs. Thomson mentioned the case of a "well-known" Canadian author who had to sell his home when his wife underwent a number of serious operations, one of which cost $2,500.

"He moved into a small apartment and waited on his wife night and day because he could not afford to hire a nurse... the most we can afford to pay him at present is $100 a month."

A Vancouver writer, in gratitude for assistance in hard times, bequeathed the residue of her estate to the foundation. But after debts and expenses had been paid, all the foundation received was an old family Bible.

Mrs. Thomson said the foundation's capital fund has grown from $5,500 to $30,000 in the last 15 years.

CAPITAL FUND

"We are now aiming at a capital fund of $100,000," she said. "Many branches of the Canadian Authors' Association are contributing, and we hope your provincial government will help us, too."

Dr. Douglas Leechman, in a talk on article writing, urged writers to check all facts and figures before submitting their work.

At this afternoon's sessions, Roland Goodchild spoke on play writing and Mrs. C. Anthony Clark on juvenile literature.

STUDENTS' REPORT

London Alert: Here We Come

Hundreds of friends as well as relatives were left behind last week by 116 high school students and graduates from Greater Victoria who are pioneering the first organized Canadian student tour to Europe. They can't write all their friends individually so the Times will publish specially-written reports, by a committee of the students, as they arrive by air mail. Here's the first:

MONTREAL, (July 5)—We tramped into the CNR's Central Station here today, wiser by the experience of crossing our continent in an economical style.

The five cars of girls, two of boys and the dining car have finally made it. There have been times when it has been doubtful.

The second day, our progress was delayed near Little Hell's Gate, B.C. A rockslide sending boulders crashing down a tributary of the North Thompson, high waters, and the weight of a freight train loaded with livestock combined to derail light cars on a small bridge.

Scary Time on New Bridge

Scores of pigs ranged on either side of the track. We held our breath as we crossed a new bridge, built in the previous 12 hours by a large work-crew.

Our main adventure over, we settled down to the tasks our cars required of us. Priority of service in the cafeteria-style dining car was determined by the cleanliness of each group's car. The girls were embarrassed when they had to take a poor third to the boys' cars.

Who needs porters? We are getting so adept at making our own berths (upper and lower) that they seem a superfluity.

A special surprise at one of our meals was a "cocktail" composed of warm water and baking soda administered to settle any upset tummies.

Washing Display Entertains

Birthday parties should keep us busy for the next 6½ weeks. Already we have celebrated with Flo Chan, Lenore Blake and Jennifer Costain. Washing has presented its interesting facets.

Mr. "Bill" Milliken, CNR representative travelling with us, came to one car of girls with the message that their undies hanging in their lighted washroom—no blinds drawn—had been enjoyed immensely by nocturnal workers in Edmonton.

We board buses for Duval Airport soon for the flight to England.

Salespeople here are most fascinated by our goings-on, as we are by their French. Travellers all along the way in fact, have been most interested in both where we come from and our destination.

And now our destination is—London!

CLOUDS WHITECAPS ON SCENE

Greater Victorians saw clouds in the sky and whitecaps in the strait for the first time today in a week.

Weather forecaster William Mackie predicted the cooling trend would continue Friday with maximum temperatures in the 65-68-degree range along the seashore and 70-75 degrees inland as they were today.

Official temperature at noon was 65.

A wind warning for small boats in the Strait of Juan de Fuca and the Strait of Georgia was issued by the weather office as a fresh westerly wind swept down the strait at an average 30 miles an hour, kicking up whitecaps along the way.

"The weather still is pleasant but is more reasonable for working people," said Mr. Mackie, predicting it would stay that way for another 24 hours at least.

SYMPHONY SAFE

The fresh wind was cut down to a gentle breeze inland and was not expected to cause any discomfort to concert goers attending a Victoria Symphony Orchestra performance at the Butchart Gardens tonight at 8.15.

Skies will be somewhat cloudy Friday morning but the day "will be mainly sunny," Mr. Mackie said. The westerly wind will die down overnight and resume at a quieter 20 mph pace Friday.

Although welcomed by bathers and children who have flocked to beaches since the current sunny spell began July 2—about 3,000 crammed Hamsterley Beach alone Wednesday—the weather has forestry officials edgy.

CLASSES IN WEAVING started this week at Art Gallery for two groups, aged 8 to 11 and 12 to 16. In younger class are Margaret Matthews, 8, and Joan Ryan, 9, who attend Mondays and Thursdays, 9.30 to 11.00. Older students attend Tuesdays and Fridays. Classes, sponsored jointly by gallery and Victoria Handweavers' Guild, are new addition to art centre training program. There are still few vacancies in each class, limited to 12 students. Two 'Dockers' Face Liquor, Tobacco Contraband Charge

'Unlawful' Imports Claimed

Two Victoria longshoremen arrested by the RCMP when their car trunks were forced open with a crowbar June 15 were charged in city police court today with possession of contraband liquor and cigarettes.

Richard Wesley Forbes and Albert Pellett, both represented by Robert Huthison, were remanded by Magistrate William Ostler to July 15 to set a date for their hearing.

Forbes is charged with possession of goods under $200 value unlawfully imported to Canada, including 980 American cigarettes, 124 ounces of scotch whisky, 78 ounces of rum, 10 ounces of brandy and two part bottles of scotch.

Pellett is charged with possession of 132 ounces of scotch and 26 ounces of rum.

EXTRA PENALTY

City police aided the RCMP in the seizure of goods from the cars parked in a Wharf Street lot after a report of missing cargo from a ship at Ogden Point.

Under terms of the Customs Act, conviction could bring heavy penalty, including confiscation of the automobiles, or extra penalty if returned to the owners.

Last-Ditch Water Issue Talks Today

Legal and accounting officials of Victoria and Esquimalt were to meet today in a last-ditch attempt towards voluntary settlement of a water dispute.

If the meeting failed, the issue of higher retail rates for Esquimalt water consumers was to go before the Public Utilities Commission Tuesday morning for a public hearing.

The dispute centres around the city's application to raise retail rates in Esquimalt, which it supplies with water, about 40 per cent for the average householder.

'FAIR RETURN'

This is designed to offset a 30 per cent increase in the wholesale rate charged to the city this year by Greater Victoria water board and also boost the city's water revenue to a "fair return" on investment.

Esquimalt contended the proposed rate should be lowered because the city should not be allowed to include interest on bonds and some portions of main extension costs in calculating the basis for a fair return.

FEDERAL BUILDING BANNER SENDS SIGNAL FOR HELP

An international distress signal—a flag flown upside down—graced the flagpole atop the federal building at Government and Humboldt Streets early this morning.

It was spotted by George Dunbar, insurance executive of Waterloo, Ont., from his Empress Hotel room window.

"The weather is a little warm, but surely not so bad that you had to send for help," he twitted.

A call to the building custodian sent him off to right the Canadian Ensign, meanwhile muttering epithets concerning the fellow responsible.

City Food Cost Tops Vancouver

6.8 Per Cent More Paid Per Family, Economics Bureau Survey Shows

Food costs to householders in Greater Victoria are nearly 7 per cent higher than in Vancouver.

The provincial bureau of economics and statistics said that as of mid-May, food costs for a family of two adults and three children was 6.8 per cent above a similar family group in the mainland city.

The bureau does not prepare statistics comparing other facets of living with Vancouver, and undertook the food cost survey at the request of the provincial health department.

Based on the consumer price index of 100 in 1949, Vancouver's food index May 1 stood at 120 which was 2 lower than Canada as a whole.

Big differences in living costs in Vancouver compared with Canada generally came in fields of clothing and household operation.

Clothing index May 1 was 116.9 compared with 110.8 for Canada, while household operation costs were 132 compared with 123.1 averaged for Canada.

FLEW 175 PLANE TYPES

Pioneer Air Leader, RCAF Veteran, Dead

Air Vice-Marshal Arthur Thomas Noel Cowley, 70, pioneer Canadian flier and former director of air services with the transport department, died in hospital here early today after a lengthy illness.

He had retired here following the war, but was invited back to work by Hon. C. D. Howe, then federal construction minister. In 1954 he retired permanently, once again to Victoria.

Winnipeg born, he piloted 175 types of aircraft during his 40 years in Canadian aviation, more than any other Canadian, and flew a jet plane at the age of 62.

MCGILL GRAD

He was graduated as an engineer from McGill University, and went to work for the federal government in railway construction. Some of his time was spent on the CNR railway on Vancouver Island, and he left here to take flying training with the Royal Naval Air Service.

His instructor was J. A. D. McCurdy, Canada's first flier and former lieutenant-governor of Nova Scotia.

While on active service he was forced down in the English Channel, then was rescued by a German destroyer and held prisoner for two and one-half years.

After the war he joined the CNR once more, then resigned.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today: Hans Molholm, 1170 Tattersall, $10 for driving through a red light.

George H. Birnie Ltd., 2624 Quadra, $20 for operating an unlicensed cement mixer trailer.

Alfred Nelson LaLonde, 1440 Bay, $20 for speeding over 20.

Trevor Peter Godfrey Stanley, 1240 Newport, $20 and licence suspension; Dennis Raymond Huckin, 2855 Cedar Hill, $20 and licence suspension; Earl Clayton Pearson, 234 West George, $20 for speeding over 30.

ASK The TIMES

Q. If a man is sent to jail for a short term is the wife entitled to an allowance from the government, even if she is able to work and has no children? W.T.

A. There is no government allowance as such to wives of prisoners, even though they may be serving either short terms or penitentiary terms. If in need they may apply for social assistance, the same as anyone else requiring help. Contact is the city welfare office.

Q. I have an original oil portrait by C. S. Hatch. What is known about this Canadian painter? C.H.

A. Most painters do not achieve national or international recognition, and there is no reference to the painter you mention in art reference books.

$56,000 Ransom Asked

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI) — The eight-year-old son of a traveling salesman who won a quarter of a million dollars in a lottery was kidnapped on his way to school today.

Two hours later his mother received a telephoned demand for $56,000 ransom.

The disappearance of Frederick Hilton Thorne triggered one of the biggest police hunts in Australia's history. Australians were shocked by what appeared to be the first known instance of the kidnapping of a child for money here.

Frederick's father, Basil Thorne, 37, won the $224,000 first prize in the Sydney Opera House lottery last month.

The boy left home as usual at 8 o'clock this morning, wearing his grey school uniform and carrying his lunch and books under his arm.

He had to walk about 100 yards to meet Mrs. Phyllis Smith, Mrs. Smith, a family friend, accompanied young Thorne to the exclusive Scots College for Boys at Bellevue Hill every day.

USUALLY PUNCTUAL

When the usually punctual boy failed to show up on time, Mrs. Smith went to the Thorne apartment to inquire. A quick telephone check disclosed he had not gone on to school alone.

At 9 o'clock, Mrs. Thorne alerted police.

An hour later, Mrs. Thorne received a telephone call from a man who, she said, spoke in a guttural voice. She said he demanded 25,000 Australian pounds for the return of her son.

Mrs. Thorne fainted and slumped to the floor. Every available plainclothesman and patrolman were thrown into an ever-widening search of the city while an alarm was flashed throughout the country.

TURMOIL MOUNTS IN CONGO

LEOPOLDVILLE, Congo Republic (Reuters) — Fresh violence struck this week-old republic today on the heels of an army mutiny.

Police revolted against their own officers, prisoners broke out of their cells and demanded amnesties and dock workers roughed up their white employers.

In most outbreaks, the demonstrators were demanding higher wages and replacement of Belgian administrators by Africans.

At Thysville, where Camp Hardy troops mutinied Wednesday, the situation turned critical. The police revolted against their own officers and the local governor appealed to Leopoldville for help in evacuating all white women and children in the town, 80 miles from here.

'Stand Up for Rights Or Resign,' PUC Told

By FRANK RUTTER

The Public Utilities Commission should stand up for its rights to control affairs of the Pacific Northern Railway—or resign, deputy CEF leader Arthur Turner said today.

Mr. Turner was commenting on a statement Wednesday by the PUC outlining its reasons for not having held a public hearing into PNR plans.

The statement—carried fully in Wednesday's Times—was being interpreted unofficially today as first allowing the PUC out of a tough political tangle, but second opening the way for future PUC action.

This action would be after a complaint from an "interested party" against construction starting before the PUC had issued a certificate of convenience.

Two interested parties involved might be the city of Prince Rupert, which has already protested the PNR's route, or opposition leader Robert Strachan, currently on holiday in the Caribbean.

"The commission should make a formal and public protest at the action of the government," said Mr. Turner, "and if the government fails to carry out the terms of the act, then the commission should tender its resignation."

The PUC statement said the railway was considered a public utility by its legal advisers.

The railway says, on the other hand, its advisers do not consider it comes under the PUC at this stage.

Premier Bennett was quoted earlier this year as saying that there would be public hearings on the railway. He since has said that construction started under terms of the Railway Act.

Mr. Turner said today a PUC certificate of convenience is required by a railway under the Public Utilities Act.

In the case of the PNR: "Their application must include all relevant information to prove their right to get started."

"If the PUC is avoiding its responsibility and the government is not up to the task," Continued on Page 12

Rome in Riot Strikes Called

ROME (AP) — Italy's rioting leftist leadership today threatened to plunge the nation into civil war.

The threat came as police in this ancient capital braced for more leftist vs. Fascist trouble after a night of rioting in the streets and fist fights in Parliament.

In the worst week of disorders since early post-war days, nearly 500 demonstrators have been injured in fighting from Genoa to Sicily. More than 200 police have been hurt—135 of them in Rome Wednesday night.

Senator Emilio Lussu, a pro-Communist Socialist leader, told a tumultuous senate session that if Premier Fernando Tambroni's Christian Democrat government does not resign it will turn into "a government of civil war."

STRIKES SPREAD

A wave of general strikes called by left-wing leaders began to hit every major city.

Rome was under a general strike from 1 p.m. until midnight, called by the Chamber of Labor protesting police action against the rioters.

A half dozen other major cities were similarly affected. More strikes were called in others by the Red-controlled Italian Federation of Labor.

The non-Communist unions labelled the strikes political and refused to join them.

Rome looked like an armed camp.

The government's national security forces showed they meant business Wednesday night when 1,000 steel-helmeted riot police charged on foot, on horseback and in jeeps to break up approximately 2,000 Communist-led demonstrators.

The demonstrators started in a predominantly workers' district. A police ban failed to stop the demonstrators, although the Socialists officially pulled out of the rally.

When Leftists tried to march into the sealed-off square at St. Paul's Gate, police sent streams of water from hoses on riot trucks into the crowds. The demonstrators responded by throwing stones at police.

PREMIER TAMBRONI under fire

THREE DIE IN HAIL OF GUNFIRE

REGGIO EMILIA, Italy (Reuters) — At least three persons were killed and many injured in fierce clashes between police and left-wing demonstrators in this northern industrial city today.

At one point, police opened fire with machine-guns on the demonstrators, who returned the fire with pistols and other weapons.

(See Also Page 12)

HAVANA, Cuba (UPI) — A growing number of Americans were reported preparing to pull out of Cuba today in the face of probable seizure of all remaining U.S.-owned property and the possibility of increasing anti-Americanism.

Cuban Premier Fidel Castro underscored the deteriorating situation with another wild-eyed denunciation of the United States for slashing Cuba's sugar quota Wednesday.

There has been a big exodus of American residents from Cuba in the past year, reducing from 6,000 to about 3,000 the number left here. But in the face of worsening Cuban-American relations, the exodus is being stepped up, with private companies getting their employees and families out of the country—even though the U.S. Embassy is not urging Americans to leave.

"We are making no recommendations up to now," an Embassy spokesman said. "It's up to the individual."

In an angry post-midnight two-hour speech before the closing session of the Metal Workers Union Congress, Castro said Wednesday night the United States slashed the Cuban sugar quota in a "frenzy of hate."

This was his first public reaction to President Eisenhower's action in cutting the sugar quota. Castro declared that the "real fight" is just starting with the United States. He charged that Washington was trying to run Cuba and ruin its economy.

But Castro surprised some observers by failing to announce specific reprisals for the sugar cut in his speech. It was believed now that he may purposely wait until a scheduled television address Friday night.

Or he may even wait to drop the other shoe and decree American sugar mills and perhaps other property nationalized when he appears before a monster protest rally called by the Cuban Workers Federation for Sunday afternoon.

'Draft Rockefeller' Move Grows

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A nationwide movement to draft New York Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller for the Republican presidential nomination got under way today with half-page ads in metropolitan newspapers.

The movement was announced Wednesday by William M. Brinton, San Francisco attorney and national chairman.

Brinton said he is absolutely confident the movement will give Rockefeller a majority of delegate support at the Republican national convention opening July 25 in Chicago.

"We have enough money to spend on the things we consider useful," said Brinton. "Not a cent of it is Rockefeller money."

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California is expected to endorse Sen. John F. Kennedy for the Democratic presidential nomination by Sunday or earlier and to carry with him a majority of the state's 81-vote delegation, highly placed California Democratic informants said today.

PUC

Continued from Page 1. ment on its side is flouting the law, then the PUC has lost its function as a guardian and watchdog of the people's welfare.

Mr. Turner added: "There has been government pressure. There is no doubt of that."

The PNR was able to live up to an agreement between Wener-Gren B.C. Development Co. and the province by starting construction of three miles before June 30 after cabinet approval under the Railway Act.

Conservative leader Deane Finlayson today was in Ottawa. Other officials of the party in B.C. said they needed time to study the PUC statement.

Liberal leader Ray Perrault said he, too, would have to consult railway experts.

"It seems to open the way to those opposed to make a complaint," he said.

Victoria Liberal George Gregory said he approved the PUC statement.

CLEAR TO WICKS

Railways Minister Wicks said he finds it "quite clear" that the Public Utilities Commission feels the Pacific Northern Company can go ahead with construction—but not operation—of its railway to the Yukon without prior PUC approval.

Mr. Wicks said he takes the position that the PNR "has the right to construct, certainly, in whole or in part."

Mr. Wicks was sure the government would frown on any attempts by the railway to begin actual operations as a public utility—hauling freight or passengers, for example—without approval of the Public Utilities Commission.

But he didn't think the company would try to do it, since there were reputable businessmen involved.

U.S. Raps K's 'Slander'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States denounced today what it called Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's "slandorous attacks" on the U.S. during his present visit to Austria. At the same time, the state department protested the Austrian government's "failure . . . to disassociate itself from these attacks."

'PAINTERS' CLEAN UP

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Three gunmen dressed as house painters seized an estimated $60,000 today in a hold-up at the Cherokee State Bank. They waited calmly for more than an hour for the time lock to go off, turning a run on each employee who entered the vault, teller's boxes, and night depository.

Two Korea Policemen Get Death Penalty

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—The Seoul district court today sentenced two former national policemen to death for shooting at student demonstrators during the uprising that overthrew Syngman Rhee's regime.

The two defendants, Chung Wan-yong and Kwon Hiyong, were the first members of Rhee's police force convicted of indiscriminate shooting against the demonstrators in April.

Both were charged with murder and attempted murder. A government prosecutor at the opening of the trial June 24 had demanded the death penalty for Chung and life imprisonment for Kwon.

Under South Korean law the death sentence is automatically subject to review by a higher court.

The two defendants pleaded not guilty to the charges. But Yoo Chai-hi upheld the real.
